

ASK GOVERNOR HUERTA REGIME FOR VETO ON TWO BILLS NOW TOTTERING

El Paso County Progressives Against Prize Fights and Race Track Gambling

PRIZE THREE LEGISLATORS
Commend Robinson, Persons and Thomas McClintock Tells of Assembly

Two resolutions, one asking Governor Ammons to veto the prize fight and race track gambling bills passed by the legislature, and the other thanking the El Paso county Progressives in the senate and house for their faithfulness to the cause, were passed last night by the El Paso County Progressive club at an enthusiastic meeting held at the court house. The resolutions were introduced by Dunbar P. Carpenter. The following set of resolutions were sent to Governor Ammons last night:

Whereas, The Nineteenth general assembly passed a bill permitting prize fights and a bill permitting betting on horses, which bills are now before the governor for his approval or disapproval, and

Whereas, Prize fighting and betting are justly held in abhorrence by the best sentiment in every state in the Union, and

Whereas, The evils attendant upon prize fighting and betting are universally recognized as a serious menace to the well-being of the nation; be it Resolved, By the El Paso County Progressive club in meeting assembled that we earnestly call upon Governor Ammons to sustain enlightened public opinion by vetoing said bills, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent Governor Ammons and be given to the newspapers.

Legislators Praised.
The resolutions commending the county's legislators were as follows:

Whereas, W. C. Robinson in the senate and W. M. Persons and T. E. Thomas in the house of the Nineteenth general assembly, elected as Progressives, showed their faith by their work; be it

Resolved, By the El Paso County Progressive club in meeting assembled that we tender our thanks to said gentlemen for their ability and steadfastness in working and voting for all Progressive measures and thus proving that Progressives stand after as well as before election for the common weal.

The nonpartisan character of the legislature, the progressiveness of the laws enacted and the work of the El Paso county Republican-Progressive representatives, Warren E. Persons and Thomas Thomas, and Senator W. (Continued on Page Two.)

GOVERNMENT UNABLE TO SUPPRESS

Conditions Growing Worse Throughout Rebellious Republic

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—Undisguised pessimism is manifested in the capital as to the future of the Huerta government. In neither official or unofficial circles are the statements of Gen. Enrique Obregon, commander of the Sonora insurgents, and Venustiano Carranza, ex-governor of Coahuila, of the probable overthrow of Huerta longer decided. Without exception, the newspapers aver that the only hope of salvation lies in the flotation of a loan. Practically all of them admit that nonrecognition of the present administration makes this very doubtful.

The banks continue to reflect the government's financial difficulties and refuse to sell exchange except at exorbitant rates, while merchants are raising their prices to balance the difference between Mexican and foreign currency. There is no fixed rate of exchange. The bankers are selling practically as brokers and are charging favored small buyers as low as 280, while demanding from heavier purchasers as high as 350.

Rebels Extending Lines.

That the rebels in the north rapidly are extending their lines is indicated by the isolation today of Monterrey, Saltillo, the capitals, respectively, of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, by the cutting of the railroad at Linares between Monterrey and Tamaulipas, and the main line of the National railroad between San Luis Potosi and Saltillo. Linares is reported to be occupied by the rebels.

The suspension of railway traffic has deflected the passenger business from abroad to Vera Cruz and Tampico, chiefly to the former. The Mexican railway is running trains in two sections to accommodate traffic.

The New Orleans steamer, which sailed today from Vera Cruz, was crowded to overflowing. Some of the wealthy travelers had to content themselves with quarters on the floor of the smoking room, while others only could be accommodated in the second cabin, although they paid for first-class passage.

Many Fleeing Country.

Many foreigners are leaving the country in fear that anarchy will follow the revolution.

The government is using every effort to resist the advance of the rebels, but the extraordinarily rapid growth of the rebellion has brought the central government face to face with the most serious situation which has been called upon to meet. It has not been found possible to dispatch any great number of troops to the northwest. Chihuahua is inadequately defended. Coahuila, except in the extreme south, practically has been abandoned. The state of Nuevo Leon is protected only at the cities along the railroad, and there are none too many troops in Tamaulipas.

The rebels practically are in control of the northern frontier. Carranza and other insurgent leaders are demonstrating that they are working in complete accord. Columns are moving eastward and westward from Carranza's command to effect junctions. It is believed here that Gen. Truce Aubert, the federal commander, is in some danger of being cut off.

BELGIAN STRIKE IS LATIN-AMERICAN NOW STATIONARY POLICY CHANGED

PUBLIC WORKS FORCED INVESTIGATION STATE TO CLOSE DOWN DEPARTMENT BEGUN

Illinois Legislature Adopts Resolutions of Sympathy for Movement United States Will Not Take Interest in Claims of Citizens in Foreign Countries

BRUSSELS, April 17.—The general strike for manhood suffrage now is stationary. In some places work has been resumed, but this is about evenly balanced by additions to the strikers' forces.

The movement is being carried on in an orderly manner. There are evidences that the Socialists are exerting themselves strenuously to obtain the adhesion of the municipal workers, and the civic authorities of Brussels have asked that military engineers be placed in the gas and electric plants as a precautionary measure.

There was a lively session of the chamber of deputies today. The aged clerical leader, Herr Wueste, amid a great uproar on the part of the Socialists and Liberals, emphatically opposed any concession by the majority duly elected by the country before the threats of the minority.

The premier followed, but added nothing to his previous declaration, which seemed to indicate that the strike has accomplished nothing to (Continued on Page Four.)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Intimation of far-reaching changes in the diplomatic service, particularly in Latin-America, came today from the White house, when it was announced that Henry Jones had been recalled from the mission given him by the Taft administration as arbitrator in a claim dispute between the government of Ecuador and the Guayaquil & Quito Railway company, an American corporation.

It was said that, while there was nothing in the recall of Mr. Jones to reflect on him personally, the policy of the administration would be not to have the American government directly involved in the settlement of private business disputes. It was intimated at the same time that persons in the diplomatic service who might have large property or financial interests in the countries in which they are resident probably would not be retained in those places.

Investigation Under Way.
A sweeping investigation is under way in the state department in line with the statement recently by President Wilson, asserting that any previous influence that might have been exerted by the American government for the promotion of loans or private enterprises would not be renewed.

In this connection, Secretary Bryan took under consideration today the status of proposed treaties between the United States and Nicaragua, Honduras and Guatemala. The impression exists that these conventions, which never were ratified by the senate, but which had the sanction of the Taft administration, would be dropped.

Is Radical Change.
Generally, these treaties looked to a more or less direct American supervision over the customs contained in the countries concerned as a guarantee of American investments. One of the Nicaraguan treaties also provided for the payment of $3,000,000 to Nicaragua in return for an exclusive franchise to construct an interoceanic canal in that country, a provision intended to head off possible competition with the Panama canal.

MRS. STORY LACKS 6 VOTES BEING ELECTED

Deadlock Also Prevents Choice in Vice President-General Selection

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, head of the conservative party, failed by six votes of the majority necessary to elect her president-general of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution on the closed ballot, which began today and closed last tonight. The vote stood: Mrs. William Cummings Story, 574; Mrs. John Miller Horton, administration candidate, 512; Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, 42.

Another ballot will begin when the Continental congress reconvenes tomorrow.

None of the candidates for the seven vice-presidents general remaining to be elected received the necessary majorities and they too will have to be balloted upon again tomorrow.

It was agreed to have the third ballot begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow, and close at 5 p. m.

At a late hour there was no intimation as to whether Mrs. Bryan would withdraw from the race.

BELIEVE RECOVERY CERTAIN
Many False Reports of His Condition in Circulation, Say Doctors

ROME, April 17.—Medical skill and strong vitality have combined to bring about a change for the better in the condition of Pope Pius. The official bulletin issued today relieved present anxiety but there are some who are skeptical and fear a third relapse, owing to the general weakness of the pontiff, and because he is inclined to disobey the orders of the attending physicians. The bulletin issued at 8 o'clock tonight reads:

"His holiness passed a good day without fever. This evening his temperature is 38 degrees. The improvement in the bronchial symptoms continues."

The pope declared early today that he felt better than at any time since his first relapse. The sun pouring into the chamber impelled him to leave his bed, which he did without assistance. On such occasions, it is the pope's custom to order his attendants out of the room and they reluctantly obey him; but they watch, unobserved, through the half-open door, fearing an accident.

Attends to Business.
Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, visited the pope tonight, and having first obtained permission from the doctors, submitted for his signature several decrees on important questions of an urgent character. Pope Pius signed them, and his hand writing was firm and clear, and showed no change from his writing before his illness.

The deep concern of the Italian government in the illness of the pope was manifested today when a request was made to those in charge of the case for a statement regarding the prognosis. This was met with the declaration that it was practically impossible to say whether the pontiff would recover, but that if he did his condition hereafter might be considered precarious.

Princess Belmonte, lady in waiting to the dowager queen, Margherita, went to the Vatican this afternoon where she requested from Mr. Bressan, detailed information of the progress of the pope in the name of the queen mother whose most earnest wishes for his recovery she brought.

Is Friend of Royalty.
The relations between the members of the house of Savoy and Cardinal Sarto before he was elected pontiff always were of the most cordial. When King Umberto and Queen Margherita visited Venice in 1895, Patriarch Sarto applied to Rome for instructions. Cardinal Rampolla, then papal secretary of state, answered, suggesting that he leave Venice, but left the decision to the patriarch.

Cardinal Sarto visited the sovereigns and invited them to the patriarchate, where he sat between them. After a (Continued on Page Four.)

SHOOTSELF WITH CLIENT'S REVOLVER

Attorney Wayman of Chicago May Die From Self-Inflicted Wounds

CHICAGO, April 17.—John E. W. Wayman, former state's attorney of Cook county, and candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the last primary, who shot himself in his home here this afternoon, died tonight. Death was caused by hemorrhages of the lungs. Mr. Wayman had been sinking steadily since the shooting.

CHICAGO, April 17.—John E. Wayman, former state's attorney for Cook county, fired two bullets into his body at his residence at 3:40 p. m. today and is lying at the point of death. The cause ascribed was a nervous breakdown, due to ill health.

Wayman had but recently retired from office, and had gone into a law partnership with a former assistant. He had been conspicuous in his term in office in the prosecution of men accused of bribery in connection with the election of William L. Dyer, as United States senator, had been active at the close of his incumbency in closing the vice district in Chicago, and had undergone a strain in an unsuccessful campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.

For several weeks his physicians had warned him that, unless he quit work entirely, he undoubtedly would die. Yesterday he sought a physician at a hotel and received similar advice. He became greatly discouraged, and went to a hospital. He remained at the institution two hours, and then went home, where he passed a sleepless night. He arose this morning, but did not dress.

No Hope for Recovery.
Late this afternoon he turned a revolver upon himself, sending two bullets into his body below the heart.

Efforts of the family to conceal the facts of the attempted suicide resulted in the spread of sensational rumors that Wayman had been assassinated by some criminal.

The physicians tonight held out no hopes of Mr. Wayman's recovery.

Mr. Wayman shot himself with an automatic pistol, the property of one of his clients, who had killed a man with the weapon.

He was working on the case at his home, and had the weapon before him and other exhibits in the case. When Mrs. Wayman heard the shot, she ran to his room, but could not see him. She threw open a closet door, and found Mr. Wayman in a heap on the floor, with the pistol beside him.

"Doctor, you should have been with me. I certainly have made a fool of myself," were Mr. Wayman's first words to Dr. W. O. Krohn, who was summoned.

REPUBLICANS PREPARING FOR FRAY

Attack "Secret" Legislative Program of Democrats in the House

DISPOSE OF WOOL SCHEDULE
Open Caucus Decided Upon at G. O. P. Conference to Formulate Plans

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The Democratic tariff revision bill came in for its first attack in the senate today, and the skirmishing outlined the scope and vigor of the fight that will be waged against it by Republican forces when tariff discussion begins in the two houses. Backed by requests from many senators for hearings on certain sections of the Underwood bill, Republican senators made a "demand" upon members of the finance committee for hearings, and openly attacked the "secret" legislation now pending in the Democratic caucus of house members. Democratic senators who replied to the attack made it clear that the finance committee does not plan to grant any public hearings. Senators Williams and Stone insisted full hearings had been given by the house committee before the bill was prepared, while Republican senators declared that these hearings had been of little value, because the rates of the Underwood bill were not known.

Prepare for General Attack.
With many complaints and objections before them, Republican members of the senate are preparing for a general attack on all schedules of the bill. Senator Smoot has put two experts at work to analyze the wool schedule, and previous measures to give the protectionists a basis for their fight. Other Republicans, who claim that important industries would be ruined out of the Underwood bill, will insist that business men and laboring men should have a hearing before the new bill is passed.

The Democratic house worked over the Underwood bill throughout the day, upholding the Democratic house leaders and President Wilson upon all contested points. The woolen schedule was under fire throughout today's session. Attempts to put ready-made clothing on the free list, and to alter other rates in the bill, were defeated. Late in the day after the wool schedule had been approved without change, the caucus disposed, in short order, of the silk, pulp and paper and sundry schedules. Voting down all proposed amendments. The free list was under consideration when the Democrats adjourned until tomorrow.

Amendments Voted Down.
Representative Underwood admitted during the wool schedule discussion that the proposed rates might have serious effect on some manufacturers. Representative Baughman of Ohio moved to place manufactured wool and clothing on the free list, instead of being dutiable at 35 per cent ad valorem. The amendment was voted down, 68 to 59. Representative Baughman's motion to reduce the duty on ready-made clothing to 15 per cent also was lost.

Representative Decker of Missouri criticized the ways and means committee. (Continued on Page Four.)

REFERENCE TO ARMS IS CHEERED BY JAPS

Investigation of Situation Reveals New Difficulties to Be Met

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Comparisons today of the proposed alien land-holding legislation in California with similar statutes in other states in the District of Columbia and several states revealed to White house officials increased difficulty in handling the protest entered by Japan.

It was pointed out at the White house that no foreign nation ever had entered protest against these existing laws. Incidentally, word reached here that while the bills in the senate and house at Sacramento differed, eventually a bill would be agreed upon along the lines of alien land laws in New York state and the District of Columbia.

The federal government is not sanguine of appeasing popular opinion in California. They hope to satisfy the Tokyo government of its helplessness to affect changes that would remove entirely the Japanese objections.

Converts Join in Protest.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—A cablegram from Tokyo to the Japanese American, a daily paper of this city, states that Japanese converts to Christianity are joining in the protest against proposed antilynching legislation in California. They have cabled Bishop William Ford Nichols of the Episcopal church here, asking for his influence against the bills, the message says, and adds that a mass meeting of Christian ministers in Tokyo has been (Continued on Page Two.)

Bread and Water Deal Breaks the I. W. W. Hunger Strike in Denver Jail After 18 Hours

Six Meals of Primitive Food Enough to Cause "Militants" to Change Their Minds Would Now Leave the City If Permitted

DENVER, April 17.—The hunger strike which was begun 48 hours ago by 50 of the 100 Industrial Workers of the World who are in jail in this city, ended tonight at supper time. The prisoners went without food for six meals, and at supper time tonight practically all of them renounced their strike agreement and partook ravenously of the bread and water which had been placed before them by the jailers.

Immediately after the strike had been called off, Chief of Police O'Neill announced that the regular prison fare would be served the Industrial Workers in the future.

"They are human," he said tonight, "even if they are bums and trouble makers. We have fed them nothing but bread and water since their arrest Monday night, in order to teach them that they cannot come into Denver and run the police department. While they are here they are going to behave themselves or again feel the iron hand of the law."

Twenty More Arrive?
It was reported at police headquarters tonight that 20 more Industrial Workers of the World had arrived in Denver, but a police dragnet thrown out over the city and its suburbs failed to catch any of the reported visitors. Police Commissioner Reardon today had an appointment with the United States district attorney's office in connection with the arrest of one Industrial Worker who is charged with having incited the march into Denver from another state. It is the opinion of the police commissioner and Chief O'Neill that such an act is in violation of federal regulation. No announcement has been made by the United States district attorney as to what course may be pursued by him in that connection.

Would Leave the City.
Today one of the Industrial Workers of the World, who is in jail, appealed to the fire and police board for his and his fellows' release. He assured the board that every industrial worker now in Denver would leave the city within 24 hours, without attempting to speak on the streets, if they could be released from prison. The request was flatly denied by the fire and police board, and the spokesman for the Industrial Workers of the World was informed that every man now in jail would be forced to serve his sentence, and at its expiration be given a certain number of hours—less than 24—to leave the city, or face another arrest and longer sentence.

The city commissioners of Grand Junction, Colo., tonight offered financial assistance to the Denver officials, in event it is needed to handle the Industrial Workers of the World.

At a late hour there was no intimation as to whether Mrs. Bryan would withdraw from the race.

ASK GOVERNOR

C. Robinson, were the features of the Nineteenth general assembly which closed Wednesday morning, according to R. M. McClintock, who addressed the meeting last night.

Mr. McClintock covered the legislature for The Gazette. He paid a tribute to the above mentioned legislators, stating that the country was fortunate in having some of the strongest members of both houses.

"The Progressives of El Paso county made no mistake in electing those three men," said Mr. McClintock. "Mr. Persons, owing to his technical knowledge, was one of the most valuable members in the house and on all economic questions his advice was sought by practically all the Progressive members. Mr. Thomas was one of the most faithful members, and although he took but little part in the debates, he always knew what was going on. Senator Robinson was looked up to as an authority on legal questions, and his conduct in the prosecution of the Barera case was especially noteworthy."

Acted Both Ways.
"The nonpartisanism of the legislature was shown both to the credit and discredit of the session. The election of Adams as president proved the result of the partisan contest and the election of Napier as president at interin, were all passed with the same vote and were distinctly bipartisan. The house Democrats were evenly divided between progressive and reactionary forces. Skinner, the progressive speaker, would have been shorn of his power had not the Republican-Progressives joined with the progressive Democrats."

"The utility bill was the big measure of the session, and it would have been emasculated if the eight Republican-Progressives had not come to the rescue and defeated the plan of Senator Patterson and the corporations to mutilate the bill. The progressive legislation enacted included the utility bill, tax refunding bills, economy bills, good roads measures, mines, safety bill, minimum wage law, and minimum wage law for teachers, pamphlet publication law, anti-trust legislation, and the anti-trust tuberculosis, blue sky, mountain park and procedure bills. "In all of these bills, the progressive of both parties acted together. There were some bad measures passed. The reappropriation measure is not fair because it discriminates against the agricultural counties in favor of the mining counties. The prize fight and race track bills were not of the best type, and the insurance bill is bad because of Governor Ammons' connection with a prominent company and of his power in appointing the commissioner."

"The bills that failed to pass which were supported by the more progressive of the progressive members, the anti-trust, bank guaranty, occupational disease, workman's compensation, corrupt practices and the single board of control."

Two Senators Faithful.
"In the senate four members were elected with Progressive endorsement. Of these only two were faithful, the others going to the Republican and Democratic reactionaries. These two faithful ones were Robinson of El Paso and Welland."

"In the house 12 were elected with Republican-Progressive endorsement. Eight remained faithful to practically every pledge in the Progressive platform. The other four, on the utilities bill and other important measures, voted with the Republican-Democratic reactionaries."

Mr. McClintock took up some problems upon which the local Progressives can be working during the next two years. The revenue problem is the most important proposition that faces the state today, he said, stating that the measures just passed will not help to solve the question. "The state needs more money to carry out its progressive plans, and we cannot get more money by more taxes," he said. "The people will not stand for any bond issue or any legislation that will increase their burdens."

McClintock proposed three ways for the solution of this problem. The first is the consolidation of all state educational institutions, which would save the state several millions of dollars of operation; second, the development of the state's resources, viz., land, coal and water power, in conjunction with the federal government; third, the taking over by the state of some form of business, such as the fire and life insurance, for which the state would derive much revenue in addition to lowering the cost of such insurance."

Representative Thomas made a short address in which he declared that he made up his mind to be a real Progressive during the primaries, and that he was glad to have been able to carry out the principles of the party."

Clementine P. Dodge, who was recently elected state Progressive chairman, made a short talk in which he emphasized that now, with city elections over, the Progressives should get together to accomplish the things needed in this locality."

PUGILIST CONFESSES TO SEVERAL MURDERS

"Young Kid Carter" Boasts of Crimes—Blames Police for His Trouble

BOSTON, April 17.—"I killed Mildred Donovan. That was only one of the many murders that I committed. That is all I have to say. What do you think of that?"

This confession was uttered from the dock in the superior criminal court today by William B. Jennings, known in the prize ring as "Young Kid Carter."

Just after he had been found guilty of killing William H. MacPherson, a bartender on New Years day and had been sentenced to imprisonment for life. In boasting of the success which he had experienced in evading punishment for his deeds, the prisoner said: "It was as late as 1910, that I beat the cops at their own game in Jackson, Mich. My pal, Bert Smith, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, but I got out of it. Leave it to me. I was mixed up in lots of other murders, but they were in the western part of the country where they have no electric chair and I can safely say that no man was hanged for any of the crimes I committed."

Blames Police for Troubles.
"I place the blame for all my troubles with the police. When I was a little kid they locked me up without any reason, put me in a cell and beat me. They did it many times. If I had been used all right when I was young, I would be all right today."

Of Mrs. Mildred Donovan of Revere, who met her death New Years eve, Jennings said he invited her for a walk and, near Holy Cross cemetery, in Malden, strangled her. Her body was found the next day.

"I killed her because I was afraid she would squeal about some of my crimes," Jennings declared.

MacPherson was shot by Jennings in a barroom brawl in a South End saloon. This happened on New Years afternoon. MacPherson said just before he died that he knew of no reason for the shooting. Jennings himself gave no reason for the killing, merely saying: "I just had murder in my head."

Is Resigned to His Fate.
The prisoner's declaration, in the court room was not made until sentence had been pronounced. Just as the judge was about to order court dismissed, Jennings rose in the dock and proceeded calmly with his confession.

"I killed Mildred Donovan," he said. "I confess this to save innocent parties. I am willing to take anything they give me, even the chair. I do not fear the chair. I have played my cards in luck until today. Now I have played the last one. I never did a day's work in my life."

District Attorney Higgins of Middlesex county, in whose jurisdiction the Donovan murder occurred, said tonight:

"Jennings' confession is not news to us. The inquest into the death of Mrs. Donovan showed that Jennings was responsible for her end. We have been waiting for a statement from him."

SIX ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN HOTEL FIRE

MALONE, N. Y., April 17.—Six men were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed the De Wilson hotel. Their bodies have been recovered and identified. A woman and a man who jumped from the third story of the hotel are seriously injured. No other fatalities are known.

When the fire department reached the burning building, the third story was in flames and rescue were impossible. All who were trapped there perished with the exception of the two who jumped.

Those on the first and second floors fled to safety in the streets. There were about fifteen persons in the hotel. The work of the firemen was hampered by a coating of sheet iron on the outside walls of the frame building.

INSPECTORS PLEAD NOT GUILTY GRAFT CHARGES

NEW YORK, April 17.—Police inspectors Martha Thompson, Swenager and Bussey pleaded not guilty this afternoon to indictments charging them with a conspiracy to defraud the state of $100,000.

The indictments were returned several days ago on evidence obtained by the district attorney in his crusade against police graft. Simultaneously with the arraignment of the inspectors, the trial of Thomas F. Robinson, a policeman charged with grafting, was begun in the supreme court. Robinson is accused of being a collector of Sweden, and is the second man to stand trial. John J. Hartigan, another policeman, is in Sing Sing on conviction of perjury.

A Harlem restaurant and hotel owner, Ludovico Tancredi, is the complainant in Robinson's trial.

PRESIDENT WILSON SELECTS MEN FOR DIPLOMATIC POSTS

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Among President Wilson's nominations announced today were:

To the United States board of general appraisers, Jerry B. Sullivan, Iowa.

Appraiser of customs at Philadelphia, William W. Roper.

Auditor for the interior department, Robert W. Woolsey of Virginia.

Collector of internal revenue, Herbert H. Manson, Second district, Wisconsin.

Assistant secretary of war, Henry C. Breckenridge of Lexington, Ky.

Judge of the district court of Alaska, Div. No. 1, Robert W. Jennings of Alaska.

United States district attorney for the district of Oregon, Clarence L. Reames.

United States marshal, eastern district of Texas, R. P. Sherfield.

Director of the census, William J. Harris of Georgia.

Register of the land office, Kallispell, Mont., Frank O. Williams.

Register at Santa Fe, N. M., Francisco Del Gado.

Recorder of the general land office, Luchas Lamar.

Receiver of public moneys at Cheyenne, Wyo., Luke Voorhees.

Assistant attorney general of the United States before the court of claims, Samuel Houston Thompson, Jr., of Texas.

George W. Guthrie of Pennsylvania for ambassador to Japan.

Charles R. Crane of Chicago for ambassador to Russia.

Frederick C. Penfield of Pennsylvania for minister to Spain.

These selections have been determined upon by President Wilson, although the nominations probably will not be sent to the senate for at least a week.

No Ambassador to Mexico.

Mr. Guthrie, formerly mayor of Pittsburg, and now Democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania, originally was slated for the ambassadorship to Mexico, but it now seems probable that no new representative will be sent to Mexico City for some time, although it is practically certain that Henry Lane Wilson will not be retained. To send a new ambassador to Mexico at present would be to recognize the Huerta government, a situation which the United States is not yet ready to meet.

Mr. Guthrie is regarded as particularly fitted to take up the Japanese problem, where pending questions over California alien land legislation give promise of important diplomatic interchanges between Tokio and Washington in the near future.

Larry Anderson, the present ambassador to Japan, has been called on President Wilson today to pay his respects and told him he did not desire to return.

Mr. Penfield, who is slated to be minister at Madrid, has had experience in the foreign service, having been stationed at London in 1885 as vice consul general and later diplomatic agent and consul general to Egypt, with rank of minister resident. He has taken an active interest in international politics and has been decorated with various foreign orders. He has traveled extensively in India, China and Japan and the Suez region.

Mr. Crane, who was said at the White house today, can go to St. Petersburg if he so desires.

STRONG IS APPOINTED GOVERNOR OF ALASKA

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Major J. P. A. Strong of Juneau has been selected for appointment as governor of Alaska to succeed Walter E. Clark, resigned. Major Strong's appointment will be sent to the senate possibly tomorrow.

Major Strong is the editor and publisher of the Alaska Daily Empire at Juneau. He has been a resident of Alaska for 14 years and formerly published newspapers in Fairbanks and Nome. For appointment as governor for the territory he was endorsed by practically the entire territorial legislature and many citizens.

"This is the first of the territorial gubernatorial appointments to be made," said Secretary Lane today. "It is in conformity with the policy I have adopted to appoint no man, whatever may be his qualifications or personal or political influence, to any office in the territories, who is not a bona fide resident of the territory in which he seeks office. In addition to this requirement I have decided not to appoint any man to important office anywhere whom I do not know personally. To that end I am sending for all applicants for office with whom I am not acquainted in order that I may have opportunity to look them over."

REDUCE APPROPRIATIONS ON ACCOUNT TARIFF CUT

BRIEN, Colo., April 17.—It became known here today that superintendents of the American Beet Sugar company refineries at this city, Sterling and Fort Morgan had received orders to cut all appropriations made at the March meeting of the board, 35 percent lower than the estimate given at that time. It was intended to make improvements to the extent of $100,000 on the three plants. The proposed tariff on sugar is given as reason for the reduction in appropriations. It is said.

AMERICANS HELD FOR HEAVY RANSOM

EL PASO, Tex., April 17.—J. S. Douglas and S. W. Applewhite, president and secretary, respectively, of the Cananea Consolidated Copper company, are held for ransom in Mexico, say private advices here tonight. They are captives of either insurgent state troops or striking miners of Cananea, an American mining and smelting center below the Arizona border. The ransom demanded is said to be $500,000. Douglas recently was made president and general manager of the company. He is a son of Dr. James Douglas, head of the Phelps-Dodge interests in Arizona.

BULGARS AND TURKS AGREE TO ARMISTICE

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 17.—The agreement for the suspension of hostilities between the Bulgarians and the Turks is officially confirmed today. The armistice will last until April 23 and may be prolonged if peace has not been concluded in the interval. A neutral zone is to be fixed during the suspension of fighting and it has been agreed that the Turkish fleet shall not interfere with the re-arming of the Bulgarian army.

The armistice may be annulled on 48 hours' notice by either party.

FRIEDMANN GETS NO AID FROM SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 17.—An effort to secure immediate action on a bill permitting Dr. P. F. Friedmann to practice medicine in Washington without undergoing the usual examination for aliens was frustrated today. Senators Gallinger and Penrose both objected to immediate action. "I don't want to pronounce this man a faker," declared Senator Penrose, "but I think the senate is going out of its way to advertise him. He may be a quack for all I know. I have specific information that many reputable men in the medical profession look with doubt upon his claims and medical journals criticize the government for the semi-official recognition it has given him."

REFERENCE TO ARMS

Cheer Reference to Warfare.

TOKIO, April 17.—A demand that the Japanese government resort to arms was hysterically cheered at a mass meeting here tonight to protest against the alien and bill now before the Japanese legislature. Twenty thousand persons assembled and listened to addresses by various orators. The speakers also denounced the subservient attitude of the government. The responsible newspapers of Tokio, in commenting on the meeting, denounce the proceedings as undignified and unworthy of the nation, describing them as merely an outburst of the unthinking extreme element, incited by political demagogues.

SEN. WORKS FLAYS "YELLOW" JOURNAL

Would Impose Censorship of Press, to Eliminate Undesirable Matter

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Senator Works made a vigorous attack on present-day journalism and the newspapers of the United States in a speech today in support of his bill to make it unlawful for District of Columbia newspapers to publish details of crimes, accidents and tragedies. The senator introduced a similar bill during the last session and it was not acted on.

"Whether people want this kind of news or not is one of the questions to be considered looking at journalism as nothing higher than a means of making money," said the senator. "Newspaper men maintain that they furnish this kind of newspaper because the people want and will have it and therefore it is the only way of maintaining their publications on a paying basis. If this is true, it is certainly a melancholy fact. If it is untrue it is a grave charge to make against the American people. Undoubtedly it is true of some people, but I am convinced that the masses of the people who support the newspapers would prefer to have such news omitted and many people don't read the newspapers and exclude them from their homes because of objectionable matter."

Aside from publication of crimes, accidents and tragedies, the senator attacked newspapers for the discomfort and embarrassment caused the relatives and friends of persons interviewed. He cited the recent case of Henry Clay Beattie, who killed his wife near Richmond, Va., to show how relatives of criminals suffered.

Urges Censorship of Press.

"It is well for the liberty of the people," said the senator, "that censorship of the press is no longer allowed in this country. It was this that the constitution was intended to prevent. But to censor the press and hereby say what shall not be published is one thing and to make one responsible for a violation of the privilege thus secured to him is quite another. The very fact that the right to publish what one pleases without abridgment exists is the strongest possible reason for making the publishers of news liable for abusing their right and privilege. I maintain that if a newspaper publishes matter that is deleterious and poisonous to the minds of its readers, thus violating the rules of good morals and decency, it should be made criminally liable for this offense, an offense far more important and harmful than that of the individual and upon precisely the same principles."

The senator concluded by admitting that his bill was not likely to become law.

"It has been my purpose," he said, "to call the attention of the country to one of the greatest, most powerful and most corrupting evils and influences of the present age. It is an evil which I admit cannot be overcome by law. It must be met by a better and purer public sentiment that will demand cleaner and more reliable journalism."

"The man who helps to make the public mind impure, whether he be a journalist or not, is a menace to the best interests of his country."

WOMAN LAWYER USES HATCHET ON BARBER

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 17.—Mrs. Julia V. Harris, a woman lawyer, seized a hatchet here today and nearly severed the head of Cornwall Ellis, a barber. Ellis probably will die. The police believe the woman insane.

Mrs. Harris is the owner of the shop run by Ellis. She and the barber were fixing a screen in front of the shop today, and when Ellis stooped over to pick up a nail, she seized a hatchet and rained blow after blow upon his head. When arrested, she said: "I have been ill for three months. He did not want to let me die without him, so I was to kill him first and then kill myself."

Mrs. Harris is 40 years old. In 1888 Mrs. Harris was admitted to practice as an attorney in the supreme court of Kansas. She was the seventh woman to be admitted to the bar in Kansas.

THREE ARE KILLED WHEN AUTO STOPS ON TRACKS

SANTA ANA, Cal., April 17.—Three persons were killed here today when the engine of the automobile in which they were riding went "dead" on the tracks in front of an electric trolley, which crashed into the motor car.

The dead were B. E. Beard and wife, formerly of Calicut, O., and E. N. Cain of Santa Ana, a rent operator and a member of the board of education of this city.

CHARGE OROZCO III WITH GIVING WORTHLESS CHECK

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—A warrant was issued here today charging Pascual Orozco III with having passed a worthless check while a guest at a local hotel. The young Mexican, who claimed to be the son of General Orozco, and a grandson of Col. Pascual Orozco, was in the city about two weeks ago, and said he was bound for Mexico to take up arms in the struggle now going on on the border. The check in question was drawn on a San Francisco bank and given in payment for a ticket to San Fernando, about 20 miles from this city.

M'MANIGAL ON THE JOB?

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., April 17.—The San Quentin penitentiary officials were startled today by the discovery that 100 sticks of dynamite, 200 feet of fuse and about 600 fulminate caps had disappeared from the prison quarry magazine, located just outside the big stone walls.

REPUBLICANS PREPARING

mittie and other members of the house, declaring that new men were not given opportunity to express their views. Representative Thomas of Kentucky replied that new members, if they had superior knowledge about tariff rates, should come forward with their information rather than criticize the committee.

Commending President Wilson for his part in the making of the tariff bill, Mr. Thomas said:

"This city has been besieged by lobbyists, corporation lawyers and manufacturers, who came here telling this committee what they thought ought to be done with the tariff. Members of congress have told the committee what they thought. I want to say to you that the president of the United States has just as much right as any other citizen to tell what he thinks and, out of 4,000 items, he only expressed his opinion on two."

Only Two Changes Thus Far. In the pulp and paper schedule, Representative O'Leary of New York wanted to increase the rate of 15 per cent. on pictures, calendars, books, pamphlets, engravings and etchings to 25 per cent. But his efforts were futile, and the entire schedule was approved as submitted by the committee.

When the free list was reached the attendance of the caucus had dwindled to a few members. An amendment proposed by Representative Bartlett of Georgia, placing phosphoric acid on the free list, was passed with but little opposition. The committee had fixed the duty of 2 cents a pound. Representative Bartlett argued that phosphoric acid was used in the preparation of fertilizer, and to tax it would raise the price of fertilizer to the farmer. This was the second change in the bill since the caucus began its consideration a week ago, shoe machinery having been the other item.

The caucus will complete the free list discussion early tomorrow, and then take up the income tax. It will finish the bill this week, and probably will report it to the house next Monday.

Open Caucus for G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The open caucus as a policy was endorsed by the Republicans of the house tonight after a vigorous debate. A resolution offered by Representative Madden of Illinois declaring that all future conferences of the house Republicans should be open to the press and public, was adopted with an amendment providing that by a majority vote the caucus could go into executive session and exclude all but the Republican members of the house.

This question was taken up in secret session and the argument was extended. Minority Leader Mann led the supporters of the open caucus proposition, but held that the caucus should at any time be in a position to close its doors.

In the open meeting, the Republicans immediately took up the question of proposing an amendment to the Underwood bill, providing for a tariff board of commission. Representative Payne of New York, ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee, presented a report from the Republicans on that committee embodying a proposed amendment.

After a lengthy debate, "tariff commission" was agreed upon as the name for the proposed body. The conference decided to postpone action on a resolution providing that the vote of the caucus should not be binding upon individual members.

A wide difference of opinion among the Republicans became apparent when Representative Moore of Pennsylvania offered a resolution providing that the Republicans should offer no general substitute tariff bill or substitute schedules as amendments to the Underwood measure, but should combine their efforts in pointing out the dangers of the Democratic bill. The reading of the resolution precipitated a parliamentary wrangle, which Republican Leader Mann ended by a motion to adjourn.

The caucus will meet tomorrow afternoon to continue consideration of the tariff commission amendment.

WILL AMMONS SIGN 2 OBNOXIOUS BILLS?

Prize Fight and Horse Racing Measures Now Before the Governor

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, April 17.—Two bills of great interest to the church people of the state are now before the governor for signature. He has not yet signed them, and has 20 days in which to do so. Therefore, if an organized fight is made against them, he may veto them.

The two bills in question are the racetrack bill and the prize fight bill. There were more petitions presented against these two measures, probably, than against any other two bills that came before the legislature. Churches and people all over the state protested against the two bills.

They had behind them, also, however, the support of certain interests in Denver and throughout the state that believe the state should be thrown wide open in such matters, and this influence was sufficient to pass them. The same influence is very actively at work in the effort to induce the governor to sign them.

The racetrack bill is, on its face, a harmless measure. It provides for a commission "to improve the breeding of horses, by encouraging horse racing. Nothing is said as to gambling, but those who know assert that provisions of the bill will permit the commission to grant permits for the pari-mutual and other forms of gambling.

The prize fight bill provides for an athletic commission, under the auspices of which "boxing contests" may be held in Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs. The contests are limited to 10 rounds, and decisions are forbidden. The law is the same as the law now in force in New York, under which, it is claimed, some of the most brutal fights ever staged have taken place.

WIDOW AND ADMIRER ARE HELD FOR DIETZ MURDER

CHICAGO, April 17.—At the conclusion of today's session of the coroner's jury investigating the death of George Dietz, the wealthy woman's tailor, who was murdered in his room Sunday night by hammer blows, the coroner's jury ordered Mrs. Dietz and George Nurnberg, a harness maker, who admitted that he was her admirer, held for murder.

Attorneys for Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg, protested that the jury had no authority to give such an order. It was agreed that the two might return to their homes, but under police surveillance, and that they would be brought to the police court tomorrow where they would plead to the charge and be released on bail pending the conclusion of the coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg left the jury room, each in charge of two detectives who will remain with them tonight.

Part of Antwerp Deserted.

ANTWERP, April 17.—The port of Antwerp is becoming more and more deserted. Vessels are not coming here and the cars in the freight yards number about one quarter of the normal. Several freighters sailed today half laden; others were empty.

The warehouses hold stores and no goods are coming in. The dock workers are keeping away from the waterfront and as a consequence there has been no trouble. Even nonunion dockers are becoming scarce and at the Hamburg-American dock the loading had to be done by crews of vessels.

The machinists at the big Berchem telephone factory have joined the strike.

POPE RALLIES

moment King Humbert smilingly asked, "What would Rome say if Rome could see us?"

In answer, the patriarch handed him Rappolla's letter to read. Then he added: "But in Venice I am master."

Many cardinals, high prelates, members of the aristocracy and the grand master of the Knights of Malta, also called at the Vatican to make inquiries and showed great relief at the favorable reports.

False Reports Circulated.

Dr. Amici visited the patient twice tonight and administered remedies for the cough and chills for restlessness, after which the pontiff went tranquilly to sleep.

In spite of the official reports, there are reports emanating from other sources that the pope is suffering from arterio sclerosis and a variety of other diseases, but the doctors emphatically deny this and declare that these reports are comparable with the stories in circulation that Cardinal Gregalia, dean of the sacred college, has claimed the privilege enjoyed since the Middle Ages by the cardinals of assisting the pontiff in his bedroom when seriously ill, and that Cardinal Vives y Tuto had visited Pope Pius and compiled his religious will. No such privileges have been claimed, as Cardinal Gregalia is confined to his apartment by gout and Cardinal Vives y Tuto is severely affected by cerebral anemia.

Many remedies have been received at the Vatican, and the pope has been especially touched by the thoughtfulness of a Venetian pharmacist who attended to the needs of the Patriarch Sarto in Venice. He sent a preparation of his own manufacture which Marchisava, after analyzing, approved and prescribed.

CALIFORNIA ASKS BEET SUGAR PROTECTION

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 17.—The senate approved without opposition today a joint resolution previously adopted in the assembly memorializing congress to grant protection to the beet sugar industry of California.

5 TAX COMMISSION MEASURES PASSED

Revenues of the State Will Be Materially Increased by the Bills

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, April 17.—Members of the Colorado tax commission are highly jubilant over the work of the legislature in reforming the revenue laws of the state. The tax commission had introduced seven measures in the house, carrying out its ideas of the reforms made in the state's taxation system. Of the seven bills adopted, the two that were beaten being the law providing for the assessment of property and providing for the statement of full consideration in all deeds.

The laws that were adopted all had for their purpose the assessment of all Colorado property in a full cash basis. Hitherto it has been the supposition that property has been assessed at one-third its cash valuation. This method has led to many inequalities, however, some counties, living fairly well up to the requirement, while others, notably Weld, have not been assessed over one-fifth, according to the tax commission. The result has been that some counties have borne a far greater proportion of the state tax burden than others.

More Equitable Plan.

It was the idea of the commission that assessment on a full cash basis would be a more equitable method than the present. As the state tax levy is four mills, if the same rate had been maintained, with the assessment tripled, the state's income would have been greatly increased. In order to persuade the legislators to adopt the cash valuation basis, therefore, it was necessary for the tax commission to prepare a bill, which was adopted, providing that state taxes for 1914, shall not be more than 15 per cent larger than for 1913, and that thereafter there shall never be an increase of more than five per cent in any one year over the previous year. A maximum levy is also fixed for county taxes, varying according to the classification of the county.

The problem of the taxation of mining property was one of the most difficult the commission had to solve. At present mining property amounts to only four per cent of the assessed valuation of the state. It is the belief of the commission that this is far below the rightful proportion. Producing mines have, in the past, been taxed at 25 per cent of the gross output.

New Mining Tax Law.

If this basis had been continued, while the rest of the property of the state was raised to a full cash valuation, mining property would have paid still less a proportion of the state's taxes. Therefore it became necessary to prepare a new mining tax law. The law as finally evolved and adopted provides that producing mines shall be assessed at 50 per cent of their gross output, plus the net profit. The limit of assessment for non-producing mines is $3,750, the value to be determined by the assessor, as at present. Improvements are to be assessed separately.

"The new law," says C. P. Link of the tax commission, "is the fairest and most intelligent in the United States. It will increase the assessed valuation of Colorado mines not less than three times. This provision under which producing mines are assessed at only 50 per cent of the gross output, unless they are making a profit, when the profit is added to the 50 per cent for assessment, is the most just equalizing feature I know of in any state. This works an increase in the amount of taxes that will be paid by profit-paying mines, and a decrease in the taxes of the mines that are not making a profit."

Van Tilberg Led Fight.

Considerable opposition was manifested to the bill by mining men, but Van Tilberg of Teller led the fight for the new law in the senate and Slatery of San Juan in the house. Both come from mining counties and say the new law will work to the benefit of the small miners.

Other bills passed with the support of the tax commission provide that no tax rebates may be made in any county without the consent of the commission, and that all public utilities shall be assessed, not by the county assessors, but by the tax commission. While the tax commission did not draw the income tax bill, it gave its support to the measure, and also to the amendments to the inheritance tax bill. These two measures are expected to add considerably to the state's revenues.

Members of the tax commission all through the debate resolutely combated the idea that these measures would to any large extent increase taxes. That there will be a tax increase, however, is conceded, though opinions differ as to how much the increase will be. There need be no increase whatever in the county taxes because of the new laws. The most the state taxes can be increased is 15 per cent over this year. The total amount raised this year by the four mill tax was $1,600,000. That amount can be increased by $240,000 next year.

Boost State Revenues.

The income tax bill bears only upon those who have net incomes in excess of $5,000 per year. The inheritance tax, of course, applies only to estates, and cannot be very definitely estimated in advance. It is expected that $25,000 will be saved in rebates, and that $50,000 will come from the coal mine inspection tax provided in the miners' safety bill. State automobile licenses will be paid only by automobilists, and will be devoted to good roads.

While there will be an increase in state taxes, therefore, the increase, it is claimed, will not be large. Every cent of it can be expended in improvements needed at the various state institutions.

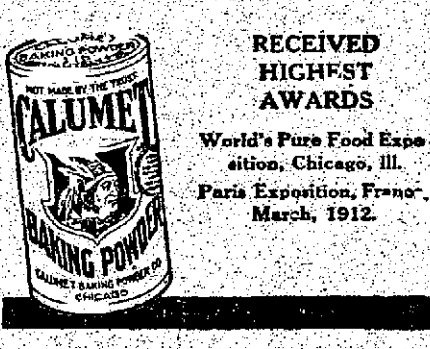

Members of the tax commission are confident of their ability to force the full cash assessment. There are those, however, who doubt the success of this experiment. Evidently the commissioners themselves realize that their position is not any too secure, since they have secured the passage by the legislature of a constitutional amendment permitting them to increase as well as lower taxes between the counties in the effort to equalize taxes. The commission is composed of J. Frank Adams, chairman, J. B. Phillips and C. P. Link. All were very active at work during the last two weeks of the legislature in lobbying for their bills.

FOUR KILLED, 100 ARE HURT IN MINE CAVEIN

GLOBE, Ariz., April 17.—An air blast generated by the fall of 3,000 tons of capping at the Miami mine, seven miles from here, killed three miners today and injured 100 others, four probably fatally. The blast was so terrific that ore cars were blown from 25 to 100 feet along tunnels 80 feet below the surface.

Three hundred men had gone on shift shortly before the cavein. The rumbling that preceded the fall warned them in time to get out of the danger zone.

The company has ordered an investigation of statements by miners that the cavein was caused by improper development work.

ASK AMMONS TO NAME STATE VICE COMMISSION

DENVER, April 17.—Governor Ammons today received from the International Antiwhite Slave Association, which is holding its convention here, a request to appoint a state vice commission. He has taken the matter under advisement.

M. A. SKINNER

senate by Senator John F. Shafroth, and it is believed will be approved. The position, which is one of the best federal positions in the state, is now held by Frank Howbert, formerly of this city. Mr. Skinner was active in Democratic circles here last fall, and Representative Sedgwick, of this city, is said to have worked hard for his appointment.

GLIDDENITES MAY START FROM SPRINGS IN 1914

The Glidden automobile tour of 1914, the most extensive and best advertised motor trip in the United States, has been invited to start from Colorado Springs, an invitation having been dispatched by the Chamber of Commerce to the American Automobile association, which body, through committees, handles this trip.

A letter was received yesterday from A. G. Batcher, chairman of the executive committee of the association, stating that the matter would be decided in December by the tour committee. Mr. Batcher said: "Certainly Colorado Springs is an enjoyable place and Colorado's recent multiplying at the road system will mean much to the state in securing a substantial number of travelers."

The Glidden tour for 1914 has been suggested as a trip to California in preparation for the great traffic that will result from the California expositions. The tour would start from this city, if plans fostered by the Chamber of Commerce are realized. In 1909 the tour ended in Denver and came to Colorado Springs for a side trip, thence eastward over the Lincoln highway to Kansas City.

New Directory Goes to Printer Next Week

The 1913 directory will go to press next week, according to Manager Cohen of the R. L. Polk Directory company. Owing to the large number of changes in residences during the last year, Manager Cohen states that the work of getting the data in shape has been extremely difficult. The exact number of names will not be known until next week, but it is believed by workers in the Polk office to be in the neighborhood of 30,000.

Candidates Out for School Board Jobs

Applicants for positions on the school board to be voted upon May 5 are becoming numerous, and the race promises to be a close one. The present incumbent, Mr. J. J. Eubank, is expected to secure some interesting figures.

Frank P. Evans, cashier of the Colorado Savings bank, was the first to file his petition for the office, the papers having been registered with the clerk of the board yesterday afternoon. E. R. Hosman, a former city alderman, will be a candidate, and his petition will be circulated today. Frank T. Hayman, a well-known business man, will also be a candidate. The Rev. Thomas Salter Rohrer will be a candidate and is now preparing his petition. It is understood that the Socialists will have candidates in the field.

Two directors are to be elected to succeed County Judge W. P. Kinney and J. J. Eubank.

THANKS OFFICER WHO SERVES DIVORCE NOTICE

When Deputy Sheriff Hobbs served Harold Blood, 23 years old, with summons of a divorce yesterday, Blood was profuse with gratitude. The suit for divorce was filed in Denver. Mildred Blood and charged the husband with nonsupport and intoxication. In thanking the officer, Blood said that he had been trying to find the residence of his wife that he might file suit for divorce against her. The couple formerly lived here, but have been separated for about a year. Blood is a painter.

AN ERROR IN DERN'S ADV. LAST SUNDAY

An error in the advertisement of the Dern Tea and Coffee company last Sunday, when the word except was inserted in place of the word expert, made it appear as though there was a discrimination in favor of the big company. It is understood that this is not the case, as the little consumer gets the same consideration and courteous service in every way as the big consumer.

GYMNASIUM BIDS WILL BE OPENED TOMORROW

Twelve contractors, two of them of Denver, have submitted estimates for the construction of the new $100,000 men's building at Colorado college, bids for which will be opened tomorrow morning at the offices of Architect Maurice Biscoe, in the Hagerman building. The trustees of the college will confer with Mr. Biscoe and President Slocum is anxious to grant the contract as soon as possible.

It has been determined at the college that ground for the building will be broken Tuesday morning about 9:30 o'clock. The program for the affair has not been announced.

POSTCARDS PIKE'S PEAK REGION WIDELY ISSUED

Postcards bearing views of the Pike's Peak region will be distributed by the thousands this year by several large card-publishing houses in the west, and arrangements have been made by the local Chamber of Commerce for the reproduction of hundreds of different views.

Clean floors and doors with GOLD DUST

Add a little Gold Dust to your scrubbing water, and you can clean your floors, doors and woodwork in a jiffy. Gold Dust is such a superior cleanser that it does the hardest part of the work, and requires little scrubbing. It does the work; you simply aid it.

Gold Dust will do the work better than soap or any other cleanser, making your woodwork look like new.

For cleaning anything and everything about the house nothing is so quickly effective as Gold Dust. It's the cleansing marvel of the age!

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

If cross, feverish or stomach sour, it means waste-clogged bowels.

Children dearly love to take delicious "Syrup of Figs" and nothing else cleans and regulates their tender little stomachs, liver and bowels so promptly and thoroughly.

Children get bilious and constipated just like grownups. Then they get sick, the tongue is coated, stomach sour, breath bad; they don't eat or rest well; they become feverish, cross, irritable and don't want to play. Liable Mothers—for your child's sake don't force the little one to swallow nauseating castor oil, calomel or other purgatives like Cathartics pills. A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs will have your child smiling and happy again in just a few hours. Syrup of Figs will gently clean, sweeten and regulate the stomach, make the liver active and move on out of the bowels all the constipated matter, the sour bile, the foul, clogged-up waste and poisons, without causing cramps or griping.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging or injuring your children. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package. Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Cathartics of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine, old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

GOVERNORS TO DISCUSS OPENING PUBLIC DOMAIN

The advisability of opening the public domain, especially in the west, probably will be the most important question that will be discussed by the congress of governors to be held in Colorado Springs in August. Governors of western states, including Colorado, California, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona and Utah, will hold a preliminary hearing in Salt Lake City, June 10, when this question will be discussed in addition to other legislation that the governors believe there will take up officially later.

One Application and the Hairs Are Gone

(Aids to Beauty)

Women troubled with fuzzy growths will be delighted to learn that a single application of a potent hair-removing ointment will remove every trace of hair, or fuzz, without pain or injury. If the growth is very thick or stubborn, a second application may be required. The ointment is so gentle that it can be used on the face and after two or three minutes rubbed off, the skin washed and the face dried, a reliable and certain way by which to permanently rid the skin of objectionable hair.

A little praxin rubbed on eyebrows causes them to come in thin and sparsely, and this stubby growths will grow long and curly by applying praxin at last night, with thumb and forefinger. Be careful and don't get any praxin where no hair is wanted.

TO SAY NOTHING OF THE DOG

From the New York Evening Post. Enemies of votes for women, in search of arguments to confound the advocates of the cause, may use for what it is worth the following incident which happened in Madison Square one day last week.

A young woman of pleasing and picturesque aspect, came northward from Twenty-third street across the square. She struggled under the weight of a dog-hammer, and inside one could see a bright-eyed restless fox terrier, eager to be let out. The woman carried a leash in her left hand, and the dog had on a collar with a snap. An interested observer followed the woman. She struggled on six blocks up Madison avenue before she reached her

ROADS ASK EXTENSION TIME FOR DISSOLUTION

WASHINGTON, April 17.—An extension of the time limit allowed by the supreme court for the dissolution of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger, which expires May 10, is being sought by the railroad.

P. D. Grayson of New York, representing the railroad, today discussed the question with Attorney General McReynolds, who is disposed to favor an extension because he believes the railroad have made earnest attempts to reach a satisfactory agreement. Whether it will be necessary to appeal to the supreme court or the lower court for the delay is a question.

If such an appeal is made the new plan of dissolution disapproved by the attorney general will not be presented to the United States court at St. Paul on Monday, as previously arranged.

MINING MEN ARE

OPPOSING NEW LAW

DENVER, April 17.—Opponents of the new mining assessment law, adopted by the Nineteenth general assembly, today began a campaign to secure its veto by the governor, and falling in this to refer it to the voters at the next general election.

The new law provides for the assessment of producing mines according to acreage and improvements and on a basis of 50 per cent gross and 100 per cent net output and of non-producing mines on the basis of acreage and improvements.

According to C. P. Link, chairman of the state commission, the new law, if it becomes effective, will increase assessable mining property by $15,000,000.

The old law provides for the assessment of producing mines according to acreage and improvements and on a basis of 25 per cent of the gross output.

FOREIGN TRADE FOR

MARCH DECREASED

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The foreign trade of the United States for March does not compare well with the trade during March, 1912, according to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Both imports and exports during the month fell off and were decidedly less than for the same month a year ago. However, the imports last month were larger than those of the same month of any preceding year, except 1912 and 1910, while the exports exceeded those of any March with the single exception of March, 1912.

Figures compiled by the bureau of statistics today give the value of imports for last month as $158,461,400 as against $157,577,038 for March, 1912; the exports during the same period aggregating $187,354,659 as compared to $205,411,482 during March, 1912. Of the imports last month, goods to the value of $84,048,438 were admitted free of duty.

THE WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

THE Nineteenth General Assembly has completed its work. It was one of the longest sessions ever held in the state. But at least it can be said that, in return for the money spent on it by the people, it gave something in the way of return.

For the Nineteenth General Assembly was by all means the most productive in the way of constructive legislation. The passage of the Public Utilities bill alone was a big enough job to signalize the Nineteenth assembly to all time. For many years the people of Colorado had been promised such a law; it remained for the Nineteenth assembly at last to redeem that promise. The bill is perhaps not as good as it might have been, but it is, at that, one of the best in the United States, and gives to the people of Colorado, through the Utilities Commission, complete control over all their utilities.

But the Public Utilities law does not in itself sum up the work of the assembly. The miners' safety law is almost as voluminous, and almost as important, as the utilities law. Under its provisions there is hope that Colorado's unenviable notoriety as the deadliest state in the union for coal miners will pass away.

A number of revenue bills were passed, which, if they will not revolutionize tax methods in Colorado, will to some extent bring order out of the existing chaos. An income tax was passed, that will add somewhat to the state's revenues, coming from the pockets of those best able to bear the burdens. The inheritance tax was added, so that death duties will be increased. Several bills were passed which, it is hoped, will tend towards greater economy in the state administration.

A minimum wage bill for women workers was one of the notable measures passed. The state was reapportioned with very little of fairness. It must be conceded both for congressional and legislative representation. Then there was the pamphlet publication amendment to be submitted to the people, an anti-trust law, a minimum wage law for school teachers, a court procedure bill that, if the supreme court chooses, will revolutionize legal procedure, a blue sky law, and numerous measures of lesser importance.

There are other laws the legislature should have passed and did not. Among these was a short ballot law, a bank guaranty law, a law for the prevention of occupational diseases, a workmen's compensation law, home rule in taxation, the repeal of the assembly feature of the primary law, a corrupt practices act, a single board of control for all the state institutions.

Of really vicious legislation there was but little. The race track and prize fight bills were the worst of the measures passed, and there is a possibility they will be vetoed. The insurance code is bad more because of the activity in its behalf of Governor Ammons, president of an insurance company to be benefited by the bill, than because of anything in the bill itself.

The Nineteenth assembly was remarkable, not alone for the amount of good legislation accomplished, but for the practical disappearance of party lines. Parties remained, it is true, but not under the old names. For instance, the majority party in the Senate, wholly reactionary, was composed both of Democrats and Republicans, and so was the minority. It was a bi-partisan vote that elected Senator Adams president pro tem and that voted for Senator Barela. It was progressives of all parties who voted against these two reactionary chiefs.

In the House progressives were in control. Most of them were Democrats, because the Democrats had an overwhelming majority. Yet the Democrats were split almost evenly, and when it came to the crucial vote on the utilities bill it was only the fact that eight Republican-Progressives voted with the progressive Democrats that saved the big measure of the session from emasculation. There was, in the House, a clean-cut division between progressives and reactionaries, and this division cut across old party lines.

Perhaps the most surprising thing about the session is that so much good legislation should have been forced through a Senate dominated, as this one was, by hopeless reactionaries. Only the fact that, if the senate did not act, the people would, through the initiative and referendum, can account for the Senate's surrender to public opinion.

The old day is gone in Colorado. Final power now rests with the people. And the harmonious working of progressives of all parties in the Nineteenth assembly is but a foreshadowing of the coming union of all progressives in one Progressive party.

FLY-SWATTING TIME

FLY time lasts for about eight months in the year, and "swat the fly" ought to be the popular slogan throughout that period. It is only a few years ago that the fly was regarded merely as a nuisance, but now we know better. Scientific investigation has shown that it is an industrious carrier of disease germs, especially those of malarial and typhoid fevers and several of the dangerous children's diseases. The best way to promote both health and comfort in fly time is to get rid of the fly.

Close screening of doors and windows and the use of fly poisons, traps and "swatters" are partially effective in keeping the pests out of the house and killing those that get in. But the best way of all is the preventive method, that is, the removal or disinfection of the places where flies breed. An uncovered garbage can will keep an entire neighborhood over-supplied with flies, and a stable is ten times worse.

Garbage cans should be kept tightly covered, and no refuse allowed to accumulate on the outside or on the ground. Probably nine-tenths of the flies are hatched in stable manure, and the only way to prevent it is to keep the accumulation in covered bins and remove it often. The eggs or flies are hatched in ten days; so stables, garbage cans, etc., ought to be cleaned out at least that often.

Remember that flies mean disease as well as discomfort. If every citizen would make sure that his own premises were in order there would soon be an end to the nuisance.

A HUNGER STRIKE THAT FAILED

IF THE Industrial Workers of the World want to immortalize themselves by the starvation method they will have to become imbued with more of the zeal of the English suffragettes than they possess now. Sixty of the band of vagrants who were driven out of Colorado Springs last week are now uninvited guests of the Denver police department. The chief put them on a diet of bread and water pending their promise to get out of the city quietly when released, but to the Industrial Non-Workers this plan was distasteful. Remembering how Mrs. Pankhurst succeeded in reducing a three-year sentence to eight days by refusing food, they inaugurated a hunger strike. But the strike lasted just twenty-four hours. When breakfast time came on the second day their appetite even for bread and water was too keen to be overcome, and they ate it and called for more.

It may be possible to make a martyr of an ordinary hobo, but it cannot be done by the voluntary starvation method. And the Industrial Workers at least those who make up the gang now in Denver are mere hoboes. The word "industrial" certainly does not fit them in any respect, nor are they "workers."

THE BRIGHT SIDE

The story of the marooned victims of the Ohio floods has not yet been told. We have heard of people in Dayton going crazy and of others committing suicide from the horror of their experiences, all of which stories, we think, bear the mark of a conventional imagination. We will venture to say that very little suicide or insanity will be found to have resulted, but, on the contrary, there were everywhere a brave and cheerful acceptance of conditions, hard as they were, after the usual courageous American fashion.

A private letter from Columbus describes the writer as passing in a boat through the flooded part of that city and being saluted by people waiting in the upper stories of their homes for the floods to leave the lower floors with the shout: "We are happy but hungry."

Another little incident reported from Dayton throws a similar light on the spirit with which men waited there for deliverance. Officials in a boat heard revolver shots in a house, and looking up a window were told by the man of the house, "Oh, I was just amusing myself shooting at rats as they came up."

The story of the Ohio catastrophe will show the bright side when it all comes to be told and when the world learns of the cheerful brave patience with which the people in homes surrounded by water endured the cold and hunger waiting for relief.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES.

In the evolution and expansion of the industrialism of the state and the country there have been many additions to the number of occupational diseases to be guarded against. Quite naturally the means of protection have not kept pace with their development, and as a consequence the troubles from this source have steadily increased. It is to meet this condition that Senator Tinkham has introduced a bill bearing upon this matter. It is now before the committee on social welfare and though this committee has been one of the most active of any in the legislature and has been doing excellent work hardly any other measure is of more urgent importance than this. The bill has the approval of health officials of the state and of various health experts, and its appeal is equally strong on humanitarian and economic grounds.

The state board of health is authorized by the bill to define lead, arsenic, mercury, phosphorus and wood alcohol poisoning to be dangerous to the public health and to add to the list of diseases incident to them, from time to time, "any occupational disease or definite symptoms of disease due to occupational processes or conditions" that may be deemed necessary. Upon the state board of labor and industries is placed the responsibility of reporting to the health board all causes of disease in industrial establishments which are declared by the board to be dangerous to public health. Appropriate penalties are provided for an employer who fails to comply with the requirements laid down for him in this connection in the body of the bill.

The extent of the group of such diseases makes an impressive and serious showing. Separately they have been quite sensational, especially those that are due to phosphorus and wood alcohol, but collectively they constitute a problem that calls for prompt efforts for its solution. The need of relief is vital and the character of the bill for that purpose has been endorsed by such high authority that it deserves generous treatment by the legislature.

It would be putting Massachusetts in the forefront of the country of the world with respect to this class of legislation, and once more establish her leadership in good causes.

COLLEGE MEN ON WARSHIPS.

Recent legislation has provided for the summer collection of naval cadets on the Monitor-Fridays a departure of no slight moment to the possible students aboard ship, the navy and the country. An almost chance observation of a member of a university faculty was the starting point of the project, which was welcomed in naval officialdom, has been thoroughly worked out under general orders, has found the university and college heads in full approval, and is received with cheers down the student line. The public comes into interest in the project by the revelation of a purpose to make the development of the plan in practice, now being carried on, a means of diffusing knowledge of what the navy really is, beyond what may be gained by mere viewing of beetling men-of-war.

Suspicion conceivably might arise that there was the ulterior intent to cultivate a kinder public sentiment toward naval expansion. The people know of two battleships a year, of one and of none. The easiest conclusion would be that the project was to create radiating points of influence for enlargement. The promoters must be acquitted of the charge of this design. Naval officers are not known as advocates of the enlarged armament; they deny that contention, and their conduct upholds the idea in defense. That the plan compasses the increase in regard for the naval reserve is clearly stated, but the distinction between that enterprise and the propagation of naval expansion sentiment is obvious.

The reserve contemplates a body of men who have the knowledge to supply a demand for men and officers in a time of need, and there it stops. It resembles the militia in relation to the standing army, the possession of a partially trained citizen body for a call which happily may never come. Moreover, the path to the theory of engineering in its highly practical, its most intense, application cannot be denied as of worth to the student.

Whether the argument, the facts are that the plan rises to the distinction of very nearly making an epoch. Its fulfillment is a hardly gain of wide interest, and not the least of its incidents will be the occupation of the vacation time in a way not less beneficial than the pursuit on the golf links or the battle in the tennis court.

On Getting Hurt

By RUTH CAMERON.

A young woman was making arrangements to entertain a small group of her college mates at a house party. "I'd like to invite Margaret," she said regretfully, as she went over the list with her mother. "But there really isn't any man I could invite for her, and it would be awkward to have her without a man."

"What if she is hurt?" asked the mother. "Thank goodness, no," said the daughter, emphatically. "Most of the girls would, but Margaret is one of those people who don't get hurt. I guess she is too busy."

Doesn't that description make you think you would like to know Margaret, whoever she is?"

That was the effect it had upon me.

I had never met the girl in whom my friends referred to, but even before her name mentioned, but when I heard that characterization I felt my heart warm towards her.

One of those people who don't get hurt—how many people do you know of whom you could confidently say that? Not many, I reckon.

Permitting one's self to get hurt over fancied slights or real grievances is too much of a luxury of the average person to be willingly dispensed with.

What some people would find to occupy their minds if they did not have grievances to nurse and slight to brood over I cannot imagine. I suppose they would be as unhappy as an unmarried woman I used to know. She had no children, no intellectual interests and, as she brooded at a hotel, no household cares. She was crying down married life to me one day. "My dear," she said, "you can't imagine how bored I am with the whole thing. Why, Phil and I haven't even had a good quarrel for three months."

I suppose the people who take such pleasure in getting hurt are in much the same state of ennui when they cannot find a grievance.

The sensitiveness which makes its possessors continually fancy themselves slighted or hurt has too long been regarded as a kind of virtue, or at least the hallmark of an artistic temperament. To me it is nothing but another name for self-centeredness and the hallmark of an unenlightened mind. It is only people who have nothing to think about but themselves who are supersensitive. The busy, unselfish people do not have time to wonder if they are being slighted.

Sensitiveness is a fine enough quality so long as you are sensitive to the right thing. Be sensitive to beauty as you can. There is happiness in that for you. Fortunately indeed is the man who can say "My heart leaps up when I behold a rainbow in the sky." Be as sensitive to the suffering of others as you can; but as for the petty, self-pitying, self-centered sensitiveness that is forever "getting hurt," don't consider that a virtue, for it isn't. The virtue lies on the side of those people who, like Margaret, are too busy to feel it.

PEORIA

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Slawh"

Peoria is the second city in the third state in the Union, which ought by all rights to give it a population of 500,000. But Peoria, according to the last census, had 56,950 people, including Chinese, Orientals and millionaires not taxed.

"Contains more fish and motor boats than any other river of its size."

Peoria is famous because of the whisky which comes from it. This whisky for its small size. Most everyone seems to want to be where the whisky goes to, not where it comes from.

Peoria is located in the heart of Illinois on the Illinois river, which contains more fish and motor boats than any other river of its size. The city was founded almost 100 years ago and would have grown faster if it had not been so particular. Peoria has sent more villains to jail in the last 10 years than any other city of its size and has less jail.

Peoria is engaged in manufacturing the implements to till the soil of Illinois, and buying the grain back. It also sorts out the freight business of Illinois. Two million freight cars pass through Peoria every year. If the switchmen of Peoria were to go into politics they could elect the mayor.

Peoria has the only insane asylum in America where the patients are not under restraints. It has the finest talk home in the country, the finest playground in Illinois, the finest market in the state, and is so well equipped with hotels, clubs, scrapers, schools and government buildings that there is nothing left for it to build but a community museum and an interurban union depot.

Peoria was first visited by La Salle in 1680. He was so sorry to leave it that he built a fort called Creve Coeur—broken heart. Peoria never had many people, but she managed out of what she had to produce Bob Ingersoll, Robert J. Burdette, Emma Abbott and Jessie Bartlett Davis. Hundreds of famous people visit Peoria every year in order to stand up the country club porch and look out into the Illinois valley below, and Col. Fred Smith entertains them all with his blue automobile.

Peoria claims to furnish more living facilities per dollar and per 24 hours than any other American city. It has no citizens too rich to be affable, and none too poor to run for alderman.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE MODERN WOMAN

XXIV—LEGAL STATUS OF AMERICAN WOMEN.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Despite the much vaunted advantages enjoyed by the American woman, there are some states in which her rights before the law are practically nil and her legal status, if she is married, is little better than that of a chattel or slave to her husband. The woman suffrage movement, in its wide-sweeping influence, is largely responsible for calling attention to these defects. In American law, and also is instrumental in securing the passage of many legislative measures to correct them. A great deal yet remains to be accomplished in this direction. Professor George Elliot Jones of the University of Nebraska said in a recent address upon this subject: "The fact is that, touching the legal position of women, American legislation is often found to be medieval, even barbarous in its provisions."

To the average person, who has made no investigation upon the subject, it would seem reasonable that the rights of the father and mother in the guardianship of their children should be equal, but in only seven states, Colorado, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island is this the case. In these states this equal right has been won only after a hard fight made by the women themselves. The original law gave all of the rights to the father. In Maryland, a mother may be the guardian of her child if the father is dead, in case he has not appointed another guardian by will. Illinois gives the father the right to provide a guardian for a child, but the law there protects the mother to the extent of providing that no such appointment shall deprive the mother of the custody and tuition of her child, without her consent. It she be a proper person to have such charge. It also provides that a widowed mother, if sane, may appoint a guardian of her child by will.

Florida and Delaware Laws.—In Florida and in Delaware the father alone has a right to provide or appoint a guardian of his child, and the consent of the mother is not essential. In several states a man may appoint a guardian of his unborn child in his will, and such a child may be taken from the custody of the mother even in infancy without her consent. In Louisiana the mother is the guardian of the child in case of the death of the father. If the mother remarries, her second husband becomes the guardian of her children and she loses all right to appoint any other guardian by will.

The laws affecting property rights of married women leave much to be desired, although, in view of the fact that a century ago married women were not supposed to possess any property rights, a great advance has been made. There are today a large number of great estates in America which are being controlled and administered by women in a manner that would have been impossible even a generation ago. In many states there has been no change from the original interpretation of the old English common law upon which most of American law is based, excepting in Louisiana, where the Code Napoleon is the basis of law. In Tennessee, the management of the wife's estate passes absolutely to her husband with marriage. A recent decision has called attention to this provision and incidentally has made a good many Tennessee women feel like what a woman here has been with here, and then realize how much worse things are for English women. I don't blame those English suffragettes for smashing everything within their reach. In the case referred to, a woman rented some land to a tenant and accepted the rent money because she needed it. The husband brought a suit to eject the tenant and won. The rent paid to his wife had to be repaid to him. The wife had no right to rent her own property, according to the judge's decision, who declared that the husband only "as governor of the family has the right to control the lands of his wife."

The wife had no right to rent her own property, according to the judge's decision, who declared that the husband only "as governor of the family has the right to control the lands of his wife."

The Napoleonic Code.

When the great Napoleon formulated his famous code he said: "There is one thing which is not French and that is that a married woman can do as she pleases." So in Louisiana and partially in Texas, because that state has been part of its law upon the Napoleonic code, a married woman cannot make any disposition of her property without the consent of her husband. In the eyes of the law, he is the owner of everything which had been hers at the time of her marriage. Even the clothing in her trousseau does not belong to her. The man who took the clothes and jewels from his wife and distributed them among his female relatives was sustained by the law of Louisiana.

A woman in Louisiana is not even considered a legal witness to a will. Toward the close of her life, Mrs. Jefferson Davis desired to add a codicil to her will bequeathing to a certain chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy a collection of valuable relics which had belonged to her husband. She had this codicil witnessed by two women and, when the action became public, it was ascertained that the gift was ineffective in Louisiana because women's signatures are valueless. Fortunately this was discovered in time for Mrs. Davis to correct the mistake and secure masculine signatures.

In Texas, a wife's money is entirely controlled by her husband, even though it is kept separate. In a case in the supreme court of Texas, it was shown that a husband had drawn five thousand dollars of his wife's money from her bank account upon his own checks and spent it in dissipation. She brought suit to recover it from some property which he owned. The court decided that the fact that the husband was improvident in the use of money did not detract from his authority as manager of his wife's estate. Even though the money had been deposited by the wife before marriage and remained in the bank afterward, as sole manager of her estate he had the right to draw it at will.

Husband Fined Instead of Wife.

In many states, women are so completely the property of their husbands that in the eyes of the law they have no moral responsibility. If they commit a crime, the husband must suffer for it. A Massachusetts woman kept a saloon and sold beer on Sunday. Her husband, who knew nothing about the transaction, was fined for the offense. It is said that in New Mexico, if a woman would rob a husband or steal the clothes from her neighbor's line, her husband instead of herself would suffer punishment. Sometimes a married woman's lack of responsibility stands her in good stead. In Kentucky, last year, a married woman indorsed a check for a friend. The check turned out to be fraudulent and the bank lost. The woman indorsed was asked to make good the $1,500 and did so. At this time she brought suit against the bank for the money and it was ordered returned to her. She found out that as a married woman she had no right to indorse a check and, therefore, was not responsible for the bank's loss. The highest court in the state compelled the bank to refund the money and it still retains her signature as a mute witness to the peculiarities of the laws of the state.

In Georgia, a man has a right to go into "business" partnership with his wife, but if the wife promises to pay her husband's debts, anyone who takes her note may lose because in Georgia the note of a married woman has no legal value. This is true also in Texas, where a married woman's note is asked by a New York firm to perform a certain legal transaction. She consented and the party desired to secure her by contract. "I will sign the contract willingly," she said. "But I am a married woman so have no legal right to sign it. If I break it, I will cannot hold me or sue me for damage. I can no more make a legal contract than a lunatic." The man asked her to secure an unmarried woman in the same line of business so that he could have a contract with assurance of its fulfillment.

In Michigan, a married woman cannot go into business without the consent of her husband. Last year, a man, petitioned the court to restrain his wife from going into the piano business. They had started a piano store together several years before and had grown prosperous, each working in it day by day. They quarreled and he put her out of the store and ordered her to stay out. She stayed out. (Continued on Page Ten)

WHY KIPLING FIRED

Once at a private party in New York City, David Bispham sang "Danny Deever" to an audience which included Rudyard Kipling, author of the verses which Walter Damrosch set to music. Mr. Bispham tells the following interesting story regarding the occurrence:

"At the conclusion of my efforts," says the baritone, "Mr. Kipling abruptly left the room and the house, with never a word about the song, which had by that time become famous, and children, young men and maidens, yes, old ladies and gentle spinsters—there is not one that is not made to sit up and breathe hard, just as the rear-rank man did, or feel hot and cold by turns, and get white, so white just as the Color-Sergeant did while Flies-on-Parade was whispering to him."

No Bispham program would be complete that did not contain this Damrosch idealization of "Tommy Atkins" and it will of course be included at the great baritone's concert here at The Burns tonight. Seats at box office. Phone Main 200.

DAVID BISPHAM
is Great Baritone, Singing "Danny Deever," Which He Has Made World-Famous—This Song Is Included on His Program Here.

as sung by every man with a D and diaphragm in his makeup. But as Kipling says, "that is another story," and it came out after he had recovered from the attack of pneumonia he caught on the way home that very night.

"This was the way of it. On my return to London, the next summer, a woman called on me and brought a message from the celebrated author to the effect that he was very sorry if on such-and-such an evening he might have appeared to have been unceremonious in leaving the room without the word as to 'Danny Deever,' which I had heard then for the first time. It was the fact was—and Mr. Kipling wanted me to know it—that he was so powerfully moved by the composition that he could not trust himself to speak, and so he made a bolt for the door."

THE SONG BISPHAM MADE WORLD-FAMOUS

It is interesting to note how strong a song will sometimes gain on the favor, as for instance the Kipling "Danny Deever."

"I have learned," says David Bispham, "that if I do not put it on my program I will be compelled to give it away, for on more than one occasion have I been tempted to give it away, but the people simply would not leave home until they had heard my song."

"Danny Deever," sung as it is by Bispham, is a wonderful bit of genuine realism, and the manner in which it is sung is said to make it one of the most thrilling tone pictures ever heard.

"It is a curious thing," says a St. Louis critic, "to note how this 'Danny Deever' grips people. Old men and

BISPHAM LIVES

WHAT HE SINGS

When the great baritone sings "Danny Deever" one feels that he is a real British soldier, while to hear him sing "Killickranker" one would swear he was a native-born Scotchman.

"A singer must live what he sings and sing because he must—because it is impossible for him to keep from singing," declares David Bispham. "One must sing his very soul into his song, having grasped the motive and spirit in which the musician lived when he gave expression to his feelings, because the best music is the expression of emotion that could find no suitable outlet save through the medium of music."

Bispham was originally intended for a business career, but after a few years' experience, finding that he could be happy nowhere save in a musical environment, he decided to forsake the financial world for that of music.

"Though I did not like business," says the baritone, "my few years' work in the commercial world have been very valuable to me. The artist should know not only his own art, but the should have a broad knowledge of every field of thought, otherwise he is likely to fall into eccentricities."

It is said that the best thing a singer can have is a voice, but I believe that the prime requisite is a sensible parents. Why? Because John or Mary, who has a good voice, may be petted or spoiled until it is ruined, while a careful guardianship would avoid such pitfalls.

The Bispham concert here is this (Friday) evening, at The Burns. No lover of the best in singing should miss this rare treat. Seats at box office. Phone Main 200.

MISS WINIFRED FAIDLEY
As Yum Yum, in "The Mikado."

Yum Yum is a Japanese maiden as beautiful as her name. She is sweet and doesn't mind saying so, but that is about all the say this-oriental maiden has. Things turn right for her, however, and she is removed from the fear of fearful things by a kind turn of events. Perhaps you will not wish to know how it comes out, but suffice to say that she has some bad hours and passes through a trying scene or two which are mighty serious for her. In spite of the fact that the audience gets a lot of fun out of the twisted skin before the sober Japs get it unraveled.

GAS ESCAPES, BRUCKER POSTPONES HIS TRIP

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, April 17.—Joseph Brucker, formerly of Milwaukee, failed to start as scheduled today on his proposed transatlantic flight to the West Indies in the dirigible balloon Richard II. Just as all preparations had been completed for the flight at daybreak this morning the gas escaped in some manner through the chief valve and the envelope suddenly became deflated. Urgent telegrams were sent to Germany for a further supply of gas.

Engineer Kruger, who had been engaged to navigate the dirigible, at the last moment made some demur about undertaking the hazardous voyage, and the promoters of the flight took out $50,000 insurance in his behalf. Brucker expressed extreme annoyance over the accident. A large crowd, which had waited for hours hoping to see the departure of the airship, manifested much disgust at the postponement of the voyage.

King of Italy Aids Ohio Flood Sufferers

CINCINNATI, April 17.—It was announced at the Italian consulate here today that of the $5,000 which had been received from the Italian government for the flood sufferers, $1,000 represented the personal donation of the king of Italy.

The relief committee announced today that it was in receipt of a donation of $3,000 from the people of Messina, Italy.

"We probably above all others, know by experience what your people are suffering," read a little note that accompanied the donation.

Detectives Hope to Clear Up Martin Mystery Case Soon

LONDON, April 17.—The private detectives who are searching for Joseph W. Martin, the American cotton broker, who disappeared here on April 3, said today that as soon as they receive information for which they have cabled to Memphis they will be in a position to close up the case.

The detectives say they sent no cablegram to Mr. Martin's brother, N. Hill Martin, advising him to abandon his contemplated voyage on the steamer Campania, which sailed from New York Wednesday for Liverpool.

Having to their own satisfaction eliminated the suggestion that Martin played the authorities at Scotland Yard today decided not to force Martin's safe deposit vault.

Sec. Daniels Puts the Ban on Hazing

WASHINGTON, April 17.—With the announcement today of his approval of the sentence of the court which dismissed Midshipman James C. Cook from the naval academy for hazing, Secretary Daniels sent a letter to every midshipman at Annapolis warning each that hereafter no leniency will be shown hazers, who in addition to being dismissed will receive the additional penalty of imprisonment as provided by law.

"The sentence of confinement would be justified in Cook's case," said Secretary Daniels, "but as I have not had an opportunity to issue a warning before, I have let the sentence stand at dismissal. Your hazing is essentially a bully and must necessarily have a streak of innate cruelty. The United States navy has no place for youths of this kind."

"I take this opportunity of saying that this senseless and dangerous practice will not be tolerated at an educational institution founded and supported by the government. Future manifestations of such character at the academy will meet with rigorous action."

The victim of Midshipman Cook's hazing was Midshipman Newbold Lodge of Michigan, who was made to stand on his head and do other stunts by Cook.

Smallpox Breaks Out at Guaymas

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 17.—Smallpox is raging in the vicinity of Guaymas, Mexico, according to wireless advice received today in San Diego from the United States warships off Guaymas. No more meningitis cases have developed on the California flagship of the Pacific fleet, and so far none of the sailors or American residents has contracted smallpox, says the message.

A United States dispatch of relief activities, a dispatch stating that 800 federals of the Guaymas garrison remain in a suburb of the Gulf of California port, awaiting the advance of state troops from Hermosillo. General Obregon's forces from the interior arrived yesterday and proceeded to participate in the mobilization of Constitutionalists at Empalme.

CHARGES AGAINST MOORE ARE BEING INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Charges upon which President Wilson yesterday summarily removed Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau from office rested today in the department of justice where agents of the bureau of investigation were at work upon them. Neither Secretary House nor White House officials had any reply to make to Prof. Moore's statement that the charges against him had been secretly made and secretly investigated and that he had no opportunity to defend himself. None of the officials concerned went further today in detailing the charges against the weather bureau chief than to say they consisted of "irregularities," but Prof. Moore in his own statement declared they were based on his activity in working for appointment as secretary of agriculture.

The general allegation against Moore is that employees of the weather bureau, while out on trips on government business, were utilized in addressing organizations and meetings in furtherance of his candidacy.

U. S. to Buy Homes for Her Diplomats

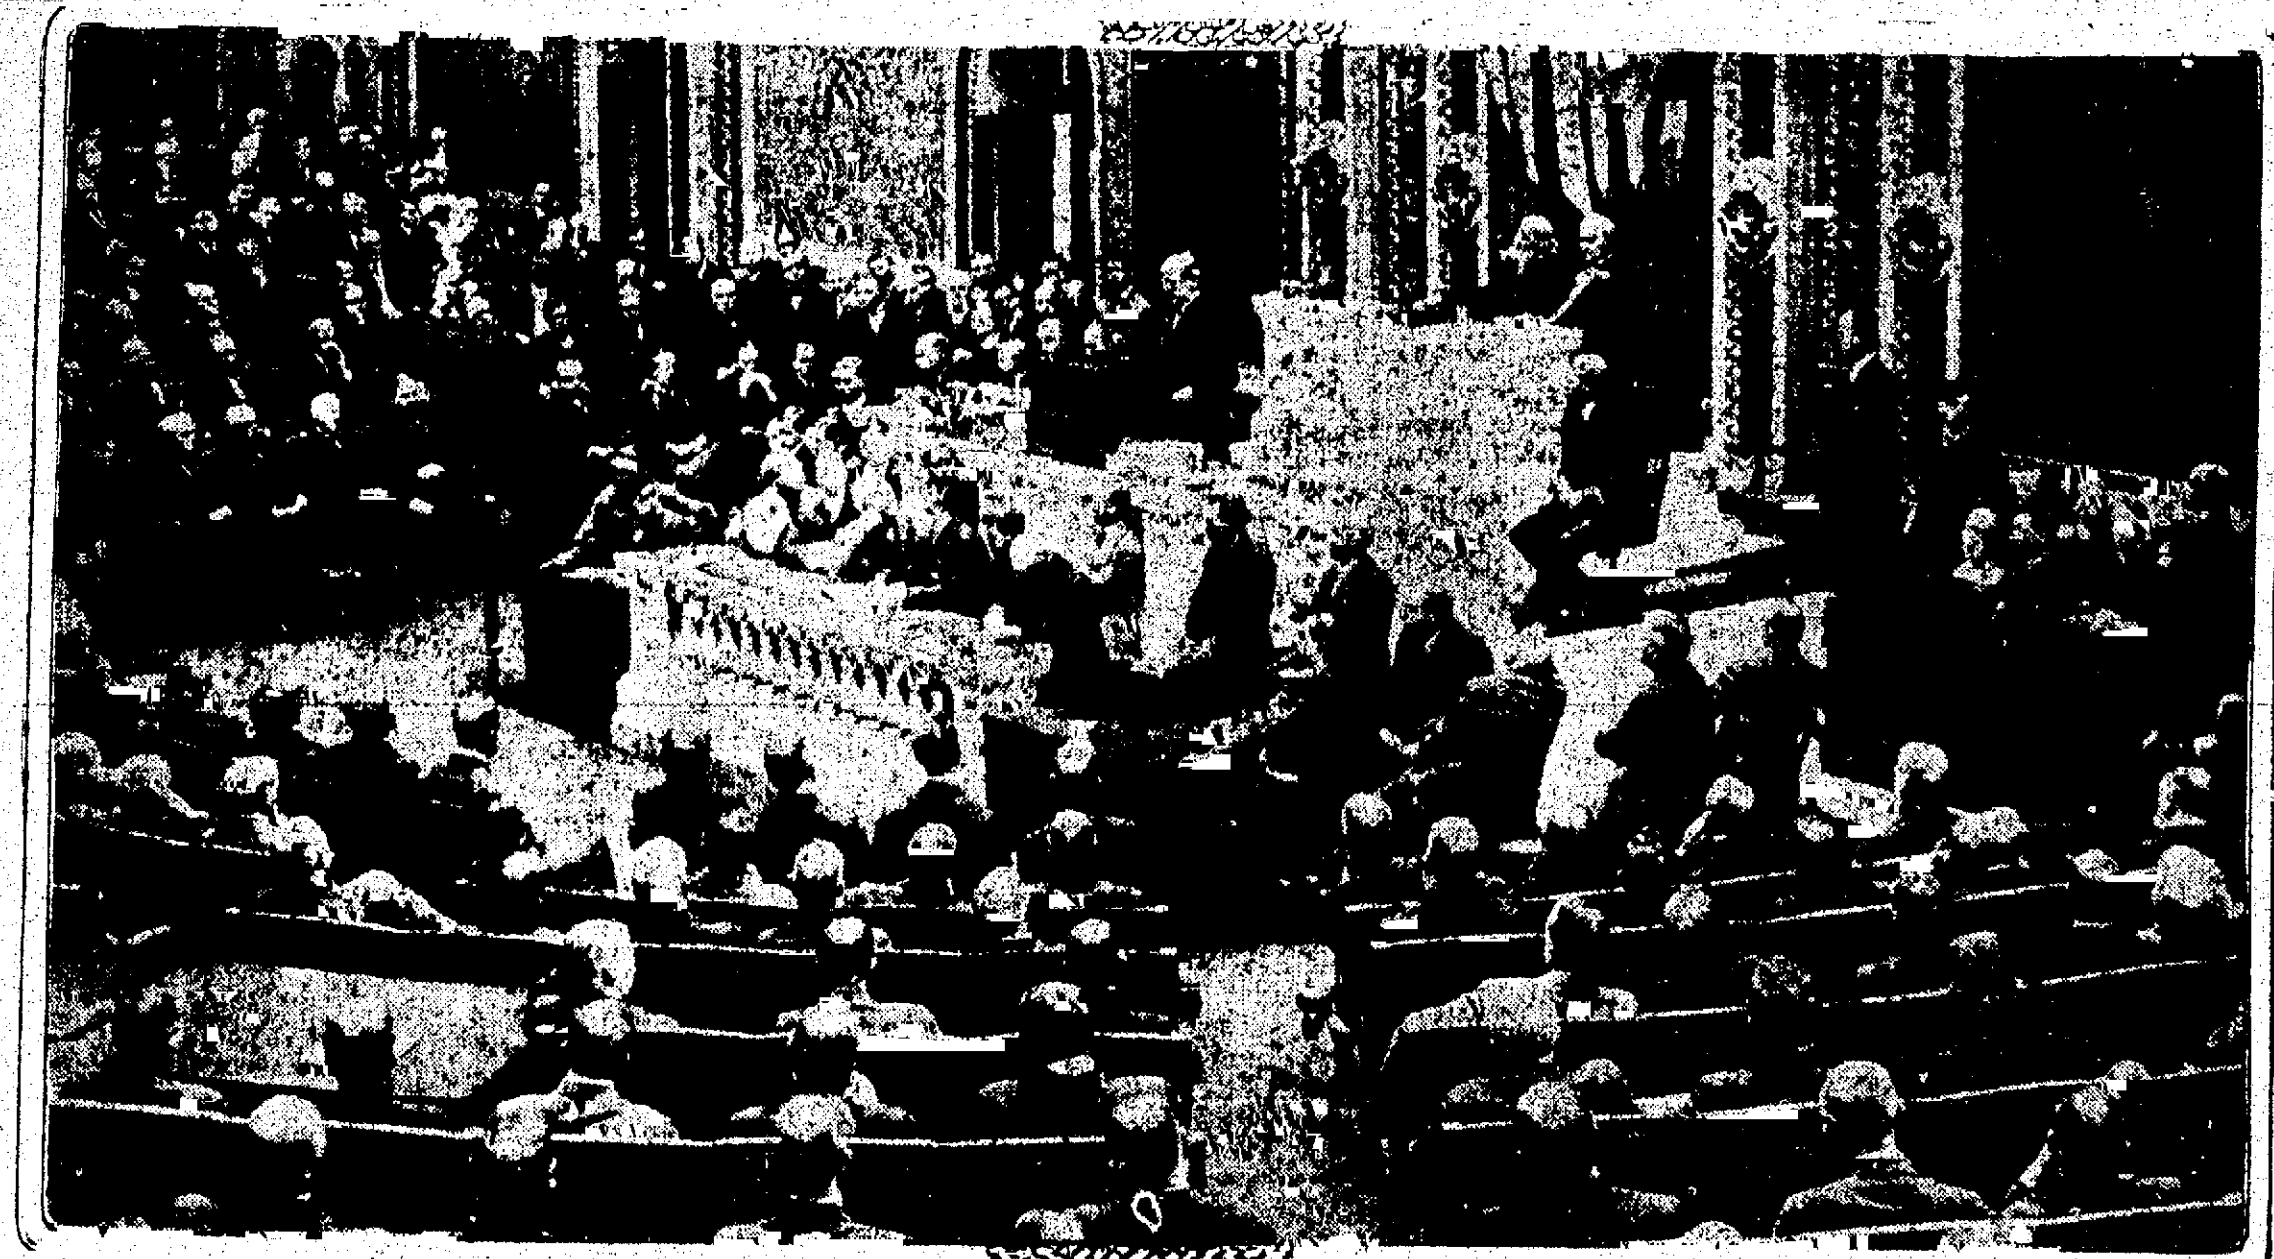

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Strong sentiment in favor of appropriations for the purchase of residences in foreign capitals for American diplomats has developed in the senate committee on foreign relations, and a subcommittee today began an investigation of the subject with instructions to make an early report.

Many members of the committee are in favor of early action toward securing embassy buildings abroad, in view of President Wilson's recent statement emphasizing the sacrifices American diplomats are forced to make in securing adequate residential quarters.

70 PER CENT OF ILLINOIS IS "DRY," SAYS DAVIS

CHICAGO, April 17.—Complete returns from towns and cities of Illinois in which the saloon was an issue in the elections of April 1 and April 15, show, as compiled by E. J. Davis, Chicago superintendent of the Antisaloon league of Illinois, that additions have been made to the dry territory sufficient to bring the total area up to 70 per cent of that of the entire state.

According to the figures of Superintendent Davis, 34 per cent of the population of Illinois now lives in "dry" territory.

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

DEVELOPMENT OF YELLOW
BIRD CLAIM PROCEEDING

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 17.—A lease has been given to the Yellow Bird Leasing company on the Yellow Bird claim, containing seven and three-quarter acres; the tract, containing six and three-tenths acres, and the leasehold on 10.2 acres of land, located on Gold Hill, near the Midget. The first two named claims were owned by the Cripple Creek Bond and Investment company, of which T. J. Morrison is president. The Yellow Bird claim is owned by the Yellow Bird Leasing company, which has a bond and lease on the property. It is being developed through the Midget shaft, running a drift on a strong vein, and any day it is expected that the ore will be encountered. Since starting this drift the values have improved from day to day, but as yet the main shoot has not been encountered.

Officers of the new leasing company are Allen Burris, president; John Nichols, vice president; the other two directors being John Finney of Denver and W. J. Verkes of Cripple Creek.

This lease has one of the best prospects of any in the district. It is understood that the Red Bird has produced many thousands of dollars' worth of ore, and in fact, on the surface all of the claims have ore bodies which are not worked for the reason that bad air has filled them holes.

The development is proceeding just as fast as possible. It is the belief of a number of mining men that from the ore which may be taken out the bond can be lifted before the time limit.

ANCHORIA-LELAND MINE

MAY BE LEASED SOON

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 17.—It has been learned that the steaming up of the plant on the Anchoria-Leland shaft, Gold Hill, was by Jesse who had broken down some ore in the mine and hoisted it to the ore house. A shipment will be sent out shortly. The leasing policy of the Anchoria-Leland has not been settled upon as yet, but shortly the plan of action for the future development of the mine will be given out. In all probability the shaft will be operated by the company and a number of blocks will be leased out.

MARY MCKINNEY TO PAY

$26,000 IN DIVIDENDS

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 17.—The directors of the Mary McKinney Mining company have declared the quarterly dividend of 2 cents a share, amounting to $26,000. This dividend will be payable April 26 and books for the transfer of stock closed Wednesday at noon and will be reopened April 25. The company reports a good development for the last quarter and expects the next quarter to be record-breaking, owing to the new strikes being opened.

ROSE NICHOL SHAFT IS NOW BEING DEVELOPED

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 17.—A drift is being run north on the 300-foot level of the main shaft of the Rose Nichol property, by Lessee, Lessee and associates, who took hold of this property a month ago. It is one of the Reed Investment company's holdings and in the past has produced a good deal of ore. The drift is being run north to open some veins known to go through that section, and it is expected they will be found to be mineralized at this depth.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, April 17.—Export talk again today furnished the basis of strength for the wheat market. At the close prices exhibited a net gain of 1/4 to 1/2. Corn made a net advance of a shade to 1/8, and provisions finished unchanged to 10c up.

Advices from Baltimore were that a wrong construction had been placed on a message from there yesterday, saying that export business was the best in years. The business of one large firm yesterday was only 25,000 bushels, but the same firm claimed a total of 125,000 bushels the day before.

The correction of the mistake which caused such a "trip" upturn yesterday was in sympathy with the market. The trade considers that a large amount of wheat will be needed by Europe within the next few weeks, and they believed a big export demand is forthcoming.

There was a little weakness today on resting sales, the market rallied, and for the rest of the day showed a rather strong tone, closing near the high point of the session.

Minneapolis wheat stocks have decreased 125,000 bushels this week. Firmness at Liverpool and Paris also helped this market. Primary receipts of wheat today were 434,000, against 168,000 bushels last year. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour totaled 248,000 bushels.

Corn was dull most of the day. Such little show of strength as it made at intervals was in sympathy with the upturn in wheat. Oats followed the same general course as corn.

Provisions were helped by improvement in the cash trade. Some profit taking caused reactions near the close, but the end of the tone was rather strong, good buying being credited to one of the big packing houses.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 17.—Attention was focused upon improving financial and political conditions in England by the reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent, from 5 per cent, the figure at which it had been maintained since last October. Evidence of genuine betterment in feeling abroad recently have been plentiful, the most direct and positive being steady absorption of securities here for foreign account in the last fortnight.

Domestic influences, such as the uncertainties of tariff legislation, misgivings as to the outlook for the money market, and the still uncompleted process of readjustment in investment securities, were necessary by the effecting of new issues at high rates, have largely counteracted the effect of the improvement abroad, so that this market has moved in an uncertain way.

The reduction of the Bank of England's rate today, however, was evidence which was largely ignored. It was reinforced by the strong weekly statements of the Bank of England and Germany, the former proportion of reserves to liabilities having now reached nearly to 48 per cent. Bankers were of the opinion that reduction in the official rate of the Bank of Germany and the Bank of France was not improbable.

At home, call money was easier. Time intervals for short dates also were easier, long dates being upheld by the strength of the market for commercial paper. Easing off of call funds is due largely to stagnation of the stock market.

The effect of the day's developments was registered in the stock market by an inquiry from the short interest which was sufficient to advance prices generally. There was some buying of investment stocks, but the chief demand seemed to come from bear traders, whose confidence was shaken by lowering of the foreign bank rate and evidence that the short interest was again overtaken.

The bond market was irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,985,000. United States bonds were unchanged.

Miss Cleveland Not to Become a Bride

MISS ESTHER CLEVELAND

Although a report that her daughter is soon to wed has been circulated far and wide, Mrs. Thomas F. Preston, who was formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland, widow of the ex-president, has made an emphatic denial in a letter to William N. Van Wert, secretary of the Grover Cleveland memorial committee. She also stated that both she and her daughter were considerably displeased over the report.

Prefers Hotel to a Palace

Housekeeping Is Too Hard Work, German Crown Princess Says

From the Chicago Tribune.

Crown Princess Cecilie of Germany has signified her intention never to keep house again. She has become a disciple of the latest custom among the members of the higher circles of the fatherland and elsewhere—that of living in the fashionable hotels or boarding houses.

And what a rage it has put the kaiser in! He is not so angry at Cecilie herself as he is at the Princess of Pleiss, who put the idea into his daughter-in-law's head.

The emperor fears the spreading of traditions may follow this innovation among the high and mighty. The war lord, though progressive in many things, clings tenaciously to "kingly prerogatives." A Hohenzollern's castle

MILLIONAIRE SOCIALIST SETS TYPE IN AN OHIO JAIL

Edward S. Smith, the millionaire Socialist of Warren, O., went to the workhouse for 30 days rather than pay a fine of $25 which the said Mayor Carter, sitting as a magistrate had no right to levy. After the flood had subsided in Warren, Smith went out with a camera for photographs. A militiaman ordered him from a certain street because it was considered dangerous. Smith refused to leave and then submitted to arrest.

"Carter is angry at me because I ran against him for mayor," said Smith. "The militiaman who arrested me had no authority to keep me off a street, because the town was not under martial law."

Mrs. Smith said her husband was taken before the mayor in a star chamber proceeding and, insisting it was illegal, refused to defend himself. He announced that rather than pay the fine he would work it out at 50 cents a day. He was sent to a typewriter case in the workhouse to help get out the weekly paper published there.

is his home and a noble's palace his domicile. He wants these things kept up.

The crown princess says she likes the modern hotel.

The kaiser says he will have none of it.

The crown princess likes the crown princess and likes her idea of living in a hotel.

Since the kaiser is so set against the idea, the crown princess doesn't know just exactly what to do.

The Princess of Pleiss is living at a hotel and says she will continue to do so.

The kaiser rages, but the princess only smiles.

And there you are. How it will end nobody knows.

The Princess of Pleiss is really to blame for it all. This feud, primarily between one of the most powerful of Europe's rulers and one of the most beautiful women in the world, began when the princess, suddenly, became tired of her palatial home and took a large apartment in the most up-to-date hotel in Berlin.

Cecilie Gets the Idea.

Many of the princess's friends followed her example. Thus the merry row extended. Her associates, one by one, closed up their homes and moved to fashionable boarding houses. The emperor did not like it.

Then the last straw came when one day, in a late-afternoon with the crown princess, the Princess of Pleiss dilated upon the joys of hotel life, telling of the comfort and ease which attended it.

The Crown Princess Cecilie has traveled much in Germany and abroad and knows "European" hotels—since they have been reformed after American ideas of hotel keeping—are not half bad. After a few minutes of serious thought she said:

"If I can persuade my husband, I think I shall try it. We are away from Berlin so much that it really does not pay to keep up our two large homes in Berlin and in Potsdam."

That evening she took the crown princess into her confidence, describing all the attractions of hotel life as told her by the Princess of Pleiss. She pointed out the comforts of the apartment of eight rooms occupied by the princess. The best part of it all, she told him, was that it did not cost nearly as much as had the managing of their palatial home. The princess's friends, she said, had given up housekeeping for hotel life, having come to the same conclusion.

It Will Be So Economical.

It will be the greatest comfort for all my dear ones. The crown princess told her husband. "We can economize in many ways."

"We shall know just what it will cost us every week, and we will not have to pay our servants while we are away. Then there will not be the awful work packing and unpacking every time we go to St. Moritz or to Danzig."

The crown princess had lived enough in hotels to see the value of this argument, but he has had enough difference with his father not to undertake anything as radical as giving up housekeeping without consulting him. So he said he'd see what the emperor thought about it.

A day or two later, while on a call to his parents at Potsdam, his mother, the empress, touched upon some of the difficulties of keeping house today, since the servants are so badly trained and demand such high wages. He thought that this was the right moment to approach the subject of their giving up their homes for hotels. The empress listened to all he had to say very attentively, but the emperor looked for he was hardly able to control himself.

Destroys the German Ideals.

"Some more of your American nonsense," the enraged father cried. "So you value this nonsense of boarding. It is like an America because their women do not know how to keep house or are too indifferent in these matters regarding our German ideals of Küche, Kirche and Kinder."

"Let the Princess of Pleiss talk that way to her American and English friends who while away their time and their husbands' money pretending to keep house in hotels, but I shall not have it in my kingdom. What are we Germans building our great army for if it is not to protect our fatherland and our homes? Is there no end to your foolish ideas and notions?"

To this ultimatum the crown princess is said to have retorted that she proposed to have her own way about it despite the royal will. The crown prince is thus left on the horns of a dilemma. The kaiser, who up to this time had confined his objections to the matter to the family, was moved by his royal daughter-in-law's attitude to pay a visit to the beautiful cause of the rumpus. He and the Princess of Pleiss had a long and earnest conversation. By gesture and word Emperor William showed great indignation, and said that he hoped the princess would confine her living in hotels to her visits away from the capital.

Her answer is said to have been something like this:

"My dear emperor, I did not know I was exciting your displeasure by telling your daughter-in-law of the comfort and pleasure I am getting from this kind of living. I did not even know that my giving up housekeeping had encouraged my friends to do the same. As for myself I cannot promise you to take up housekeeping again without consulting my husband."

And in this polite way the princess turned the kaiser away, but did not turn his wrath away.

For he left the princess in a huff, and it is said that the affair had a great deal to do with his issuing a decree forbidding the entry of American wives into the German diplomatic corps.

THE COLONEL ON THE STAGE

From the New York Evening Post.

This habit of riding down to business on the top of a Fifth Avenue bus is contagious. Somebody's rolling up the avenue on a recent bright morning had encouraged my friends to do the same. As for myself I cannot promise you to take up housekeeping again without consulting my husband."

Apparently all was well, with the colonel's mood. His companions atop of Juggernaut were ignorant that they rode beside Nimrod, cheek by jowl with an ex-president. The small boy below, trundling an unsteady hand-barrow, missed the chance to pause and shrill "Oh, you Teddy!" Policemen in new uniforms by Rhinelanders, failed to salute the majesty of a former commissioner of police. All was as it should be. The colonel rode unmarked toward the sanctum of the contributing editor. Suddenly, from the crowded sidewalk, came a hail accompanied by the wave of a hand: "Good morning, colonel!"

Teeth flashed and the black slouch hat was thrust aside.

"Ah, by Jove! Glad to see you! Delighted! Splendid morning!"

Onward lurched Juggernaut. The colonel sank back in his seat, seemingly oblivious to the curious looks from his seatmates, inhaling vigorously, eyes wandering generally over the scudding masses of humanity that surged up and down to-
